VANCOUVER, B. C.

P. O. BOX 198.

In July 1886 the City had a population of about 1200.

In July 1887 the population was 3000.

In July 1888 a careful calculation showed that the City had some 8,500 people within its limits.

It is estimated that by July 1890 the inhabitants of Vancouver will number at least 20,000.

Vancouver is the Western Terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the only railway line on the American Continent that reaches from the Atlantic to the Pacific which is controlled by one company, and has from this circumstance alone the certainty of becoming a place of great importance. In addition to this, however, she is the only seaport on the Pacific coast of the Dominion that has a harbor capable of being entered at all states of the tide and at every season of the year by the largest ocean-going vessels. This has consequently led, in connection with her being the railway terminus, to Vancouver being selected as the home port of the lines of mail steamers to Japan and China, New Zealand and Australia.

Five great Railway systems connecting with the Canadian Pacific Railway will in a very short time establish their terminus in the City of the Sunset Province, the branch lines to perfect this being to the greater part under construction.

In 1886 Vancouver had no communication by railway with the rest of the world and the only way by which either passengers or mails arrived was by a steamer calling on its way from Victoria to Port Moody. Now, Vancouver has a daily steamer from here to Victoria; a steamer twice a week (shortly to be made three times weekly) from Port Townsend, Seattle and Tacoma; a steamer every three weeks to Japan and China, besides extra boats on frequent occasions and numerous steamers from the various provincial ports. Vancouver has a daily mail service over the Canadian Pacific Railway with the East, and three trains a day between this city and Westminster. Letters have arrived here in twelve days from England, and with faster steamers on the Atlantic it is contemplated that within a few months the Terminal City may be reached under ten days.

The industries and resources of Vancouver are many in number and diverse in their character. The production of lumber on Burrard Inlet is the largest on the British Pacific Coast. Great as it is a considerable addition is being made by the erection of several additional large mills. Several other wood-working industries are expected to commence operations shortly.

The British Columbia Smelting Works in the hands of a powerful local syndicate have been firmly established, so that the future of our City as the centre of one of the most important industries—that of smelting precious ores—is assured.

A Sugar Refinery of the capacity of 100 barrels per day will come into effect within the next three months, all preliminary steps having been satisfactorily arranged with the enterprising owners, and sundry other establishments for manufacturing purposes are on the verge of opening up in the spring.

The city is provided with a first class Water Works System which leads an everlasting supply of the purest and most wholesome mountain water throughout all the wards, and hydrants are placed in such positions as to secure the inhabitants with the greatest speed against conflagrations. An efficient fire alarm system has been introduced, and successfully tested.

Vancouver is lighted by gas and electricity, and quite recently the Tramway Company who have laid a net of lines through the main and most frequented portions of the City have amalgamated with the Vancouver Electric Illuminating Company, so that in future electric power will be used for these public conveniences.

The education and ecclesiastical departments are well cared for, schools, public, private and of a higher class being situated in all parts of the city under the supervision of the best teachers procurable, and the School Board make it their constant duty to keep step with the ever increasing youthful population. Churches of all denominations grace particularly the higher situated parts of Vancouver, they number about twenty, and contribute likewise greatly to the picturesqueness of the city.

The location of Vancouver is probably the finest of any city on the coast. Situated on Burrard Inlet which is a natural harbor some 11 miles long by $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 miles wide, completely landlocked, it is impossible to conceive a more favorable position for a large naval and mercantile port. What San Francisco is on the Pacific and New York on the Atlantic to the United States or Liverpool to Great Britian Vancouver will become to the Dominion of Canada, and she will always be a city of the greatest importance to the Imperial Government.

We have used SAULTER'S PATENT ASBESTOS FLOOR STONES and find them the cheapest and best article in the market, as from 6 to 7 of them can be placed in position in the floor in same time it takes to put in one of the oldstyle Stones, and there is nothing about them to break or crumble and are very light and fire-proof, weighing about 9 lbs. each, and we can highly recommend them, as being cheaper and far superior to the old style Stones.

INTRODUCTION.

HAVING paid too much attention to the croaking of newspapers and business men, who are constantly crying down and picturing the want of progress in Canada, we under-estimated the amount of printing and work preparatory to the issue of our DOMINION CLASSIFIED BUSINESS DIRECTORY. Consequently, our book was not ready, as we expected, on the first day of September.

Owing to the fact that our predecessors in 1871, which was their last issue, met with heavy loss, it required a good deal of courage to face the responsibility and risk of so great an outlay as is necessary on a work of this magnitude.

We are happy, however, to be able to inform our patrons that our undertaking has had a different result. In England and other countries publications of this kind receive Government assistance. We were not favored in that way.

By abbreviating and condensing, without detracting from the usefulness of the work, we have endeavored to put as much useful information into as small a compass as possible, and although our prospectus announced only a classified business directory of the Dominion and Newfoundland, owing to the liberal patronage received from British Columbia, Manitoba, Northwest Territory, Ontario and the City of Montreal, we have added alphabetical lists to their sketches. By referring to the general index, you will readily find the classified and alphabetical lists of the different provinces. We have no disposition to infringe on the rights of newspapers or mercantile agencies, yet, having canvassed the Dominion, claim the right to assert that in our opinion the people of Canada are as happy, prosperous and comfortable, on the average, as those of any other country.

The populations given have been obtained from the most reliable sources, and if the census of the Dominion is correctly taken next year, we think our figures will be found to be pretty near the mark.

We have a few extra copies, which will be forwarded to any address, express charges pre-paid, on receipt of the price, $10.00.

MILITIA AND DEFENCE OF CANADA.

Previous to the confederation of the Provinces, the defence of this country was entirely in the hands of the Imperial Government, who for that purpose maintained troops in each Province, supported by various local volunteer militia corps. This volunteer militia had, when called upon, rendered most efficient service in times of trouble.

After Confederation the British Government gradually withdrew all the Imperial troops from this country, and at present only maintain a garrison at Halifax, and a naval establishment there and on the Pacific coast.

By the British North America Act the command in chief of all naval and military forces of and in Canada was vested in the Queen, and the control of the same was placed in the hands of the Dominion Parliament. A Department of Militia and Defence was at the same time established, the first Minister being Sir George E. Cartier, and the first Militia Act was passed in 1868, 31 Vic., chap. 40. The Act was subsequently amended in various ways, but is practically embodied in the present Consolidated Militia Act, 46 Vic., chap. 2, passed (May, 25 1863.) By it the militia of Canada is declared to consist of all the male inhabitants of Canada of the age of 18 years or upwards and under 60, not exempted or disqualified by law, this population being divided into four classes, as follows:—

The first class comprises those aged 18 or upwards. and under 30, being unmarried or widowers without children.

The second class comprises those beween the ages of 30 and 45, being unmarried or widowers without children.

The third class comprises those between 18 and 45, being married, or widowers with children.

The fourth class comprises those between 45 and 60.

The following persons are exempt from enrolment and active service at any time: Judges, clergymen and ministers of all religious denominations, professors in colleges, and teachers in religious orders, the wardens and officials of all penitentiaries and lunatic asylums, persons physically disabled, and any person being the only son of a widow and her only support. Certain other persons are exempt from service except in case of war.

The number of men to be trained and drilled annually is limited to forty thousand, except as specially authorized, and the period of drill is to be sixteen days and not less than eight days each year.

The Militia is divided into Active and Reserve land and marine force. The Active land and marine force is composed of men raised either by voluntary enlistment or by ballot, and the Reserve force consists, practically, of the whole of the efficient men not serving in the Active Militia of the time being.

The period of service is three years.

The strength of the Active Militia (including a Permanent force, limited by the present Militia Act to 1,000 men) was, in 1889, as follows:—Cavalry, 1,987; Field Artillery, 1,440; Garrison Artillery, 2,362; Engineers, 179; Infantry, 31,506; Total, 37,474.

Third Class—Other newspapers and periodicals not entitled to free transmission, books and printed matter generally, printed circulars, bond fide patterns and samples of merchandize, packages of seeds, deeds and mortgages, and other matter by statutory provision included in the postage rating of this class.

Fourth Class—Parcels closed against examination of contents and posted prepaid for Parcel Post between places within the Dominion.

Fifth Class—All matter of miscellaneous description not embraced in any of the other classes, and so enclosed or put up as to be open to inspection.

RATES OF POSTAGE.

The rate of postage on a letter posted within the Dominion of Canada, for transmission by mail to any place in Canada, is three cents per half ounce weight; and the Statute provides that this rate must be prepaid by postage stamp at the time of posting the letter.

Any such letter not prepaid at least one full rate of three cents cannot be forwarded to its destination, but will be sent to the Dead Letter Office, by first mail, for return to the writer.

Letters as aforesaid posted in Canada, and addressed to places in Canada, when weighing more than half an ounce, and liable therefore to two or more rates of postage, will be transmitted by mail to destination, though not fully prepaid, if as much as one full rate of three cents has been prepaid thereon by postage stamp, and will in such cases be forwarded charged with double the amount of deficient postage. Thus, if such a letter weighing more than ½ oz., and not exceeding 1 oz. in weight, be posted prepaid three cents only, it will be rated six cents unpaid —"Insufficiently Prepaid"—and forwarded to its address.

On letters posted at an Office to be delivered from it, commonly known as "drop letters," the rate will be one cent per ½ oz.; to be in all cases prepaid by Postage Stamp affixed to such letter when posted. Drop letters, if redirected to some other Post Office in consequence of a change in the residence of the person addressed, become liable to the ordinary rate of three cents per ½ oz., less the amount prepaid. Insufficiently paid drop letters will be rated with double the amount of deficient postage.

In cities where free postal delivery has been established, no additional charge is made on letters delivered by letter carrier. At places where there is no free postal delivery, the charge on letters delivered by letter carrier is fixed at two cents for each letter, in addition to the ordinary postage—the two cents being paid on the delivery of the letter.

All letters, whether sealed or unsealed, are liable to the ordinary rates of postage, and whether posted at a Post Office or handed to a mail courier on his journey from one Post Office to another.

Letters redirected from one office to another in Canada without being taken out of the Post Office, are not liable to any additional postage on being reforwarded. This regulation applies also to letters mailed in the United States, addressed to Canada and redirected from Canada to the United States without being taken out of the Post Office.

The charge on dead letters returned to the writers is three cents on each letter in addition to any postage which may be due thereon.

LETTERS OR PACKAGES CONTAINING CONTRABAND OR DUTIABLE GOODS.

The Postmaster-General, or any Postmaster by him to that effect duly authorized, may detain any post letter or other article of mail matter suspected to contain any contraband goods, wares or merchandise, or any goods, wares or merchandise on the importation of which into Canada any duties of customs are by law payable, and suspected to have been enclosed therein, and sent by post, to evade payment of such duties, and forward the same to the nearest Collector of Her Majesty's Customs, who, in the presence of the person to whom the same may be addressed, or, in his absence, in case of non-attendance after due notice in writing from such collector requiring his attendance, left at or forwarded by the post according to the address on the letter or other article of mail matter, may open and examine the same.

And if, on any such examination, any contraband goods, wares or merchandise, or any goods, wares or merchandise on the importation of which into Canada any duties of customs are payable, are discovered, such collector may detain the letter or other article of mail matter and its contents, for the purpose of prosecution; and if no contraband goods, wares or merchandise, or any goods, wares or merchandise on the importation of which into Canada any duties of customs are by law payable, are discovered in such letter or other article of mail matter, it shall, if the party to whom it is addressed is present, be handed over to him, on his paying the postage (if any) charged thereon; or, if he is not present, it shall be returned to the Post Office, to be forwarded to the place of its address.

MISCELLANEOUS MATTER.

On all pamphlets, occasional publications, printed or lithographed, circulars, prices current, hand-bills, exhibitor's entry tickets for Dominion or Provincial exhibitions, book and newspaper manuscript; printers' proof sheets, whether corrected or not: maps, prints, drawings, engravings, lithographs, photographs, when not on glass or in cases containing glass; botanical and entomological specimens, when properly put up, so as to prevent injury to the contents of the mails; sheet music whether printed or written; documents wholly or partly printed or written, such as deeds of land, mortgages, made under seal, (including chattel mortgages), insurance policies, (including renewal receipts when attached to the policies) voters' lists, militia and school returns, the rate of postage is one cent for each four ounces; provided that no letter or other communication intended to serve the purpose of a letter be sent or enclosed in any such package or thing mentioned, and that the same be sent in covers open at the ends or sides, or otherwise so put up as to admit of the contents being, if necessary, easily withdrawn for examination by the officers of the Post Office (if enclosed in sealed envelopes notched at the ends or sides, or having merely the corners cut off, letter rate of postage will be charged), and that the postage rate be prepaid by postage stamp or stamped post bands or wrappers, in all cases. Limit of weight, 4 lbs.

No packet of miscellaneous matter can be transmitted by mail if it exceed twenty-four inches in length or twelve inches in width or depth.

Legal and commercial papers generally (including bank pass-books) are not included in third-class matter, but are liable to letter rate of postage, except when sent as parcels by Parcel Post.

By book manuscript is meant the written sheets of any book intended for publication.

By newspaper manuscript is meant written articles intended for insertion in a newspaper or periodical, and addressed to the editor or publisher thereof for insertion—advertisements, or anything of that nature, in writing, are not included.

Printers' proofs are the printed impressions taken by a printer, for correction or examination, of any matter passing through the press.

The rate of postage upon packages of seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions or grafts, is one cent for each four ounces, which must be prepaid by postage stamp. The limit of weight is five pounds.

Printed or lithographed circulars may pass at the above rate, even though certain blanks therein have been filled up with a pen, provided that all the copies are expressed throughout in identical terms.

Printed circulars, prices current, and other printed matter not complying with the foregoing conditions, will be sent to the Dead Letter Office.

Unaddressed circulars, hand-bills, &c., may be posted for letter-box distribution at a rate of ½ c. each, to be prepaid by postage stamp.

REGISTRATION.

(Registration Stamps are only to be used in payment of Registration Fees, and must not be used in prepayment of postage.)

On every letter and packet posted for registration, the registration fee must be prepaid by stamp, and it is desirable that the stamp used should be a registration stamp, though the Department will not refuse to forward letters on which the registration fee is paid by ordinary stamp.

The registration fee for letters within the Dominion of Canada is two cents.

All insufficiently paid registered letters should be sent to the Dead Letter Office by first mail.

On a parcel or packet of patterns or samples addressed to any part of Canada, the registration fee is five cents. A registration stamp of this value is furnished by the Department, and its use is recommended for this class of matter.

Every letter or packet containing value should, in addition to the postage, have affixed thereto stamps representing the registration fee, and should be presented to the Postmaster or his clerk for registration, and a receipt obtained therefor. On no account should a letter intended for registration be dropped into a letter box, as in such cases the rule requiring a receipt to be given by the Postmaster for every registered letter or packet cannot be complied with.

Registration of Voters' Lists in Ontario.—Voters' lists required by the Statutes of Ontario (cap. 4, 38 Vic.), to be sent by post, registered, by the clerks of the several municipalities of Ontario, may, when so posted, be admitted to registration, if prepaid, at the rate of one cent per 4 ozs., together with the registration fee of two cents.

Registered letters and packets can only be delivered to the parties to whom they are addressed or to their order, and a receipt must be given on the delivery of each registered letter in a book kept by every Postmaster for that purpose.

Postmasters are instructed not to accept for registration, letters addressed either to initials, or what may appear to be fictitious names, as it is impossible to obtain any satisfactory receipt or assurance of proper delivery of letters of this class.

Postmasters should be particular always to give certificates of registration, and should point out to persons posting letters, etc., for registration, the desirability of possessing proof of posting and registration. It should be clearly understood that registration does not make the Postmaster-General responsible for the contents of a registered letter or parcel if lost or stolen. The registration simply makes its transmission more secure, by affording means of tracing its course through post.

If a dead letter cannot be delivered to the person to whom it is addressed at the Post Office to which it is sent by the Dead Letter Office, it must be promptly returned to the Dead Letter Office, and must not be sent elsewhere.

The reason for the non-delivery of every letter or other article of mailable matter must be stamped or written on the address side thereof before sending it to the Dead Letter Office. Each letter or other article of mailable matter should also be stamped with the dated stamp of the Post Office from which it is sent to the Dead Letter Office.

COPYRIGHTS IN CANADA.

Copyrights may be secured by any person domiciled in Canada, or any part of the British possessions, or being a citizen of any country having an International Copyright Treaty with the United Kingdom, who is the author of any book, map, chart, musical composition, or of any original painting, drawing, design, etc., upon the following conditions:—The books, maps, etc., must be published in Canada; and in the case of a work of art, it must be produced in Canada, either prior to or simultaneously with its production elsewhere; two copies of books, maps, &c., must be sent to the Minister of Agriculture; and in the case of paintings, statuary, etc., a written description of the same must be furnished.

The fee for registering a Copyright is one dollar, and it runs for twenty-eight years. It may also be renewed for a further term of fourteen years upon the same conditions.

An Interim Copyright may be obtained pending the publication of any literary, scientific or artistic work, by depositing in the Office of the Minister of Agriculture a copy of the title, or a description of such work. The Interim Copyright runs for one month, and the fee is fifty cents. The work, however, must be published inside the time specified or the author incurs a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars.

The penalty for infringing a Copyright is the forfeiture of every copy of the work to the owner of the Copyright, and the payment of a fine not less than ten cents, nor more than one dollar, for every copy found in possession.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

The direct security of the Dominion is given by the Statute for all deposits made.

Deposits of one dollar, or of any number of dollars, will be received from any depositor at the Post Office Savings Banks, provided the deposits made by such depositor in any year ending the 30th June, do not exceed three hundred dollars, and provided the total amount standing in such depositor's name in his ordinary deposit account in the books of the Postmaster-General, do not exceed $1,000, exclusive of interest.

No interest will be allowed on any sum over and above one thousand dollars in an ordinary deposit account.

Every depositor, on making a first deposit, is required to specify his christian name and surname, occupation and residence, to the Postmaster, or other officer of the Postmaster-General receiving such deposit, and make and sign the following Declaration, to be witnessed by the said Postmaster or other officer receiving the deposit, or by some other person known to him, or by a Justice of the Peace; and if such Declaration, or any part thereof, shall not be true, the depositor making the same shall forfeit and lose all right and title to his deposits.

DESCRIPTIVE OF CANADA.

The Dominion of Canada is by far the largest of all the British possessions, and has an area nearly equal to that of Europe, or in other words, it comprises about one-sixteenth of the land surface of the globe. It occupies the whole northern part of North America, with the exception of the British colony of Newfoundland; the territory of Alaska, which belongs to the United States; and Greenland, which belongs to Denmark. The name Canada was first applied to the country by Jacques Cartier, and is supposed to be derived from an Indian word "Kannatha," meaning a village, or collection of huts. The Dominion of Canada is a confederation of the colonies of British North America, constituted in 1867 by the British North America Act of that year (30 Vic., chap. 3). The first to unite under the provisions of that statute were Upper and Lower Canada (now Ontario and Quebec), Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick; and to these have been added Manitoba and the N. W. Territories in 1870, British Columbia in 1871, and Prince Edward Island in 1873. Part of the N. W. Territories was subsequently divided into provisional districts as follows:—In 1876, Keewatin; in 1882, Assiniboia, Saskatchewan, and Athabasca.

GEOGRAPHY AND PHYSICAL FEATURES.

Canada is bounded on the North by the Arctic Ocean; on the South, by the United States, and the great lakes Superior, Huron, Erie, and Ontario; on the East, by Newfoundland and the Atlantic Ocean; and on the West, by the Pacific Ocean and Alaska. Area, 3,470,257 square miles, in addition to which there is a water area of lakes and rivers calculated at 140,000 square miles. The whole country is characterised by vast lakes, rivers and plains, but, with the exception of British Columbia, it is nowhere of a strictly mountainous character. The Laurentide Range, chiefly in the basin of the River St. Lawrence, runs SW to NE, and has a total length of about 3,500 miles, and an average elevation of 1,600 feet.

CLIMATE OF CANADA.

The climate of Canada is dry, healthy and invigorating, and, owing to the great area of the country, extending over 20 degrees of latitude, or from the latitude of Constantinople to the North Pole, has a wide range of temperature. The extreme dryness of the atmosphere, however, makes both cold and heat less acutely felt than the readings of the thermometer would lead people to expect. In the Maritime Provinces the climate somewhat resembles that of the British Isles; in Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba the summers are warm and the winters cold, but the cold is pleasant and bracing, and the snow that generelly covers the ground during the winter is of the greatest benefit alike to the farmer, the lumberman and the merchant. In the North-West Territories cattle graze at large all through the winter months; and on the Pacific slope, west of the Rocky Mountains, the climate is milder than in any other part of the Dominion.

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT LANDS.

Crown Lands in British Columbia are classified as either surveyed or unsurveyed lands, and may be acquired either by record and pre-emption, or by purchase.

PRE-EMPTIONS.

The following persons may record or pre-empt Crown Lands, viz: Any person being the head of a family, a widow, or a single man over eighteen years of age, being a British subject, may record surveyed or unsurveyed Crown Lands which are unoccupied, unreserved and unrecorded.

Aliens may also record such surveyed or unsurveyed lands, on making a declaration of intention to become a British subject.

The quantity of land which may be recorded or pre-empted is not to exceed 320 acres northward and eastward of the Cascade or Coast Mountains, or 160 acres in the rest of the Province.

No person can hold more than one pre-emption claim at a time. Prior record or pre-emption of one claim, and all rights under it, are forfeited by subsequent record of pre-emption of another claim.

Land recorded or pre-empted cannot be transferred or conveyed till after a Crown grant has been issued.

Such land, until the Crown grant is issued, is held by occupation. Such occupation must be a bona fide personal residence of the settler or homestead settler, or his family or agent. Indians or Chinese cannot be agents.

The settler must enter into occupation of the land within thirty days after recording, and must continue to occupy it.

Continuous absence for a longer period than two months consecutively, of the settler or homestead settler, and his agent or family, is deemed cessation of occupation; but leave of absence may be granted not exceeding four months in any one year, inclusive of the two months' absence.

Land is considered abandoned if unoccupied for more than four months in the aggregate in one year, or for more than two months consecutively.

If so abandoned, the land becomes waste land of the Crown, without any cancellation of the record.

The fee on recording is two dollars.

The settler may either have the land surveyed at his own instance, (subject to rectification or boundaries), or wait till the Chief Commissioner causes it to be surveyed.

After survey has been made, upon proof, by declaration in writing to himself and two other persons, of occupation from date of pre-emption, and of having made permanent improvements on the land to the value of two dollars and fifty cents per acre, the settler, on producing the pre-emption certificate, obtains a certificate of improvement.

After obtaining the certificate of improvement and paying for the land, the settler is entitled to a Crown grant in fee simple. He pays five dollars therefor.

PAYMENT FOR LAND AND CROWN GRANTS.

The price of Crown lands pre-empted, is one dollar per acre, which may be paid in four equal instalments, as follows—First instalment, two years from date of record or pre-emption, and each other instalment yearly thereafter, until the full amount is paid. But the last instalment is not payable till after the survey.

The Crown grant excludes gold and silver ore, and reserves to the Crown a royalty of five cents per ton on every ton of merchantable coal raised or gotten from the land, not including dross or fine slack. It also reserves to the Crown, since April 7, 1887, all timber on the land, except for domestic purposes. A pre-emptor, however, can obtain a license to cut the timber of his pre-emption on payment of dues at the rate of twenty-five cents per 1,000 feet board measurement.

No Crown grant can be issued to an alien who may have recorded or pre-empted by virtue of his declaring his intention to become a British subject, unless he has become naturalized.

The heirs or devisees of the homestead settler are, if resident in the province, entitled to the Crown grant, on his decease.

If they are absent from the province at the time of his death, the Chief Commissioner may dispose of the pre-emption, and make such provision for the person entitled thereto, as he may deem just.

PRE-EMPTION FOR PARTNERSHIP PURPOSES.

Partners, not exceeding four, may pre-empt as a firm 160 acres each west of the Cascades, to each partner, and 320 acres east of the Cascades, to each partner.

Each partner must represent his interest in the firm by actual residence on the land, of himself or agent. But each partner, or his agent need not reside on his particular pre-emption.

The partners, or their agents, may reside together on one homestead, if the homestead be situated on any part of the partnership pre-emption.

For obtaining a certificate of improvement, it is sufficient to show that improvements have been made on some portion of the claim, amounting in the aggregate, to two dollars and fifty cents per acre on the whole land.

MINING LAWS.

FREE MINERS.

"Free Miners" only can have right or interest in mining claims or ditches. A "free miner" must be over sixteen years of age. His certificate may be for one year ($5), or three years ($15), and is not transferable. He may enter and mine Crown lands, or, on making compensation, lands occupied for other than mining purposes. To recover wages, must have free miner's certificate.

MINERAL CLAIMS.

"Mineral claims"—that is, claims containing, or supposed to contain minerals, precious or base (other than coal), in lodes or veins, or rock in place—shall be 1,500 feet long and 600 feet wide, and, as nearly as possible, in rectangular form. Must have three posts (or tree posts) at equal distances along the centre line, with a notice on each. Only one claim on the same lode or vein can be held, except by purchase. Quartz claims are deemed to be mineral claims.

To lawfully hold a Crown grant for a mineral claim, it must be surveyed by a surveyor approved by the Land Office; notice of application for the grant must be posted conspicuously on the land, and on the Government office of the district, also inserted for sixty days in the Government Gazette and a newspaper, if any, circulating in the district, and proof must be given to the satisfaction of the Government offices that $1,000 have been bona fide expended in money or labor upon the claim. Or a Crown grant may be got by paying $25 per acre to the Government, in lieu of representation and expenditure on the claim.

General provisions for ordinary mining claims apply to mineral claims as far as may be.

The proper representation of a "mineral" claim requires that the sum of one hundred dollars, in money, labor or improvements shall be expended in the first six months of every year upon the claim, to the satisfaction of a Gold Commissioner, and that the owner shall have obtained a certificate from the Gold Commissioner to that effect, within six months from the location of the claim, and thereafter within the first six months in every year, and shall have recorded the certificate immediately after its issue.

An annual tax of $1 per acre, or fraction part of an acre, of every mineral claim is payable on the 31st December.

Leases of mining ground, ditch privileges, etc., may be issued, but will not in general be granted for a longer term than ten years, or for a quantity of ground greater than—

In dry diggings, ten acres:

In bar diggings, unworked, half a mile in length along the high-water mark.

In bar diggings, worked and abandoned, one mile and a half in length along the high-water mark.

In creek claims, on abandoned creeks, one mile and a half in length.

The regulations as to flumes, ditches, and drainage need not be detailed, but it may be stated that the water taken into a ditch or sluice has to be measured at the ditch or sluice head. No water should be taken into a ditch or sluice except in a trough placed horizontally at the place at which the water enters it. One inch of water means half the quantity that will pass through an orifice two inches high by one inch wide, with a constant head of seven inches above the upper side of the orifice.

NEW FISHERY REGULATIONS

For the Province, authorized by Order-in-Council, dated at Ottawa, Monday, the 26th of November last.

On the recommendation of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries and under the provisions of the 16th section of chapter 95 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, entitled "An Act Respecting Fisheries and Fishing," His Excellency the Governor-General has been pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that the Fishery Regulations for the Province of British Columbia, adopted on the 30th May, 1878, be, and the same are hereby rescinded and the following substituted therefor:

SALMON FISHERY.

Fishing by means of nets or other apparatus without leases or licenses from the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, is prohibited in all waters of the Province of British Columbia.

Provided always that Indians shall at all times have liberty to fish for the purpose of providing food for themselves, but not for sale, barter or traffic, by any means other than with drift nets or spearing.

Meshes of nets used for capturing salmon shall be at least six inches extention measure, and nothing shall be done to practically diminish their size.

Drifting with salmon nets shall be confined to tidal waters, and no salmon net of any kind shall be used for salmon in fresh waters.

Drift nets shall not be so used as to obstruct more than one-third of any river.

Fishing for salmon shall be discontinued from six o'clock a.m. on Saturdays, to six o'clock a.m. of the following Monday, and during such closed time no nets or other fishing apparatus shall be set, or used so as to impede the free course of the fish, and all nets or other fishing apparatus set or used otherwise shall be deemed to be illegally set and shall be liable to be seized and forfeited, and the owner or owners or persons using the same shall be liable to the penalties and costs imposed by the Fisheries Act.

Before any salmon net, fishing boat, or other fishing apparatus shall be used, the owner or persons interested in such net, fishing boat or fishing apparatus shall cause a memorandum in writing, setting forth the name of the owner or persons interested, the length of the net boat, or other fishing apparatus and its intended location, to be filed with the Inspector of Fisheries, who, if no valid objections exist, may, in accordance with instructions from the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, issue a Fishery license for the same, and any net, fishing boat, or fishing apparatus used before such license has been obtained, and any net, fishing boat or fishing apparatus used in excess or evasion of the description contained in such license, shall be deemed to be illegal and liable to forfeiture, together with the fish caught therein, and the owner or person using the same shall be also subject to fine and cost under the Fisheries Act.

All salmon nets and fishing boats shall have the name of the owner or owners legibly marked on two pieces of wood or metal attached to the same, and such mark shall be preserved on such nets or fishing boats during the fishing season, in such manner as to be visible without taking up the net or nets; and any net or fishing boat used without such mark shall be liable to forfeiture.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries shall, from time to time, determine the number of boats, seines or nets, or other fishing apparatus to be used in any of the waters of British Columbia.

TROUT FISHERY.

No one shall fish for, catch, or kill trout from the 15th October to the 15th March, both days inclusive in each year.

Provided always that Indians may, at any time, catch or kill trout for their own use only, but not for the purposes of sale or traffic.—JOHN J. McGEE, Clerk Privy Council.

DESCRIPTIVE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Province of British Columbia may fitly be described as the California of Canada; and on account of its great natural resources and position it will, before long, become one of the most important places in the world. It is bound to command the great bulk of the Oriental and Oceanic trade in the near future, and this, coupled with the development of the country, will insure for it an era of prosperity which will compel public attention to be drawn towards it. For the last twenty years the progress of this province has been comparatively slow, on account of its almost complete isolation from the outside world, the inhabitants depending entirely upon American railways and steamships for their means of travel and commerce. Now everything is different. Since the Canadian Pacific Railway has been completed, the connecting link has been forged and strongly bound, making the chain complete, which has now stretched from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coasts of Canada. Thus a new channel has been made which will in time divert to itself a great portion of the trade which used to flow through that of the States, and at the same time fresh feeders will be provided for the main line as the country becomes developed. Formerly, the outside world had an idea that this country was hardly fit for habitation; most persons believing that it was cold and bleak, surrounded and enveloped by mountains, but now, owing to increased knowledge, this mistaken idea has been dispelled, and it is fast becoming one of the most favored spots on the Pacific Slope.

CLIMATE.

British Columbia is the most favored of all the Canadian Provinces with regard to climate. Along the coast it resembles very much that of the South of England, and on this account a great many persons from the Eastern Provinces are settling in the country, glad to escape the extreme cold and spend their days in a warmer clime, and at the same time live under the old flag. This fact alone is causing a large flow of immigration, and the day is not far distant when land which was once thought valueless will prove a rich mine to the possessor. The climate of the interior varies from a moderate temperature to extreme cold.

AGRICULTURE OF THE COAST.

The amount of good farming land along the coast is comparatively small, but, where found, the soil is exceedingly rich and productive, so much so that the yield per acre could hardly be credited. There are valleys lying between the different ranges of mountains, which, though not large, are sure to yield a rich harvest to the owner. The richest, without doubt, is that of the Delta of the Fraser River, and the price per acre in this locality varies from $50 to $100, and will in time double and treble. Most of the land is comparatively heavily timbered, and on this account, where cleared, or of light brush, prices vary in proportion, according to the improvements made, or the expense required in getting it in a fit state for cultivation. Farms of this description can be purchased at from $10 to $50 per acre. Of course there is a large amount of land still to be taken up under the Homestead Act, but unless a person has some capital it is not advisable to pre-empt, as he might probably be disheartened with the uphill work at the beginning. The best way, by far, is to become acquainted with a person who has a thorough knowledge of the country by his long residence, and to take his advice.

TIMBER LANDS.

The immense forests of this Province are a mine of wealth to the country, and formed into timber make it one of the staple products, giving employment to a large number of hands. The number of sawmills is fast increasing, as the attention of capitalists from the great lumbering centres, such as Michigan and Wisconsin, is being steadily concentrated in this direction, on account of the supply in their own country steadily decreasing. The size of some of the trees is simply enormous, as much as 22,000 feet being sawn out of one log. The chief kinds are fir, cedar, spruce and maple. The two former find a ready market abroad, especially in Australia and China. The strength of the Douglas pine is equal to English oak, and on this account it is a very suitable material for house and ship building. Cedar, being softer, is greatly used for inside work, such as doors, articles of furniture, etc. At present only the outside fringe of this large belt of timber country has been cut, owing to the great saving effected by felling the trees close to the water's edge, where they are gathered into booms and towed to the various saw mills. This industry will grow larger every year, and will not only give employment to a great number, but will at the same time open up the country. This fact can easily be understood, because every mill has two or three men attached to its staff, called timber cruisers, whose sole duty is to explore the country for first-class timber lands; when so employed they very often come across a large tract of open country before unknown.

CATTLE RANCHES.

In a few years this Province will become one of the largest stock-raising countries in the world. Already the cattle ranges in the United States are giving out. When this happens the attention of stock men will be turned towards this field. In the interior, towards the north of British Columbia, there are large tracts of open land at present not utilized, which will one day yield the investor a handsome profit. The life has a great many charms, being free, independent, and healthy. In a few years this country will be taken up, and the fortunate ones who have taken time by the forelock, and been far-seeing, will be able to survey their large bands of cattle roaming on the distant plains, and think with pride of the splendid investment they have made. The North-West and Manitoba are not able to compete in this trade, the climate being too severe, while here, in some portions of the province, cattle can remain out all winter, and even in the coldest year need only be sheltered for two or three months. The necessary fodder can easily be cut and made into hay, as the grass very often grows to a height of three or four feet. All that the stock want is a little care and attention, and without this nothing can succeed.

MINING.

This Province abounds in minerals, the chief being coal, iron, copper, gold and silver. The first of these is extensively worked at Nanaimo, a small town on the east coast of Vancouver's Island, which is one of the prettiest mining villages in the world, on account of its natural position and picturesque surroundings. Here is an energetic, thriving population, and the coal finds a ready market in San Francisco, being greatly superior to that of the United States. This is only one, however, of the immense coal fields of British Columbia, as almost the entire province is underlaid with this precious commodity. Dr. Dawson, the Dominion geologist, makes the following statement with regard to the quality of coal:—"It is truly bituminous coal of very excellent quality. It was tested by the War Department of the United States some years ago to find out which fuels gave the best results for steam-raising purposes on the western coast; and it was found that, to produce a given quantity of steam, it took 1,800 lbs. of Nanaimo coal to 2,400 lbs. of Seattle coal, 2,600 lbs. of Coos Bay coal, Oregon, and 2,600 lbs. of Monte Diablo coal, California, showing that, as far as the Pacific coast is concerned, the coal of Nanaimo has a marked superiority over all others."

Iron ore has been discovered in large quantities, but owing to the dearness of labor has not yet been manufactured, but is being shipped to the American side in its natural state. This mineral only wants capital, combined with pluck and the necessary knowledge, to make it a source of profit to the investor, there being a large market near by, and would at the same time mark a new era in the country's prosperity.

Copper is a comparatively virgin field which is practically untouched, except so far that it has been discovered.

Gold and silver, especially the former, were the means of bringing this country to the notice of the public, the first discovery taking place about 1858, when a great rush flowed into the country from all parts of the world bound for the far-famed gold fields of Cariboo. At that time it was a very arduous and expensive journey, as everything had to be transported by steamer up the Fraser, and afterwards carried by mules to the interior. Even with these disadvantages a considerable number of men made their fortunes, while others, who drew the blanks after expending every dollar, were forced to take up land, not having enough to pay their passage out from the country, and these became the pioneer farmers of British Columbia. Ever since then prospecting has had its charms for a great number, and this industry has fluctuated with the rise and fall of discoveries. One day, not far distant, there will be considerable excitement in quartz mining; this branch hitherto has not been properly worked, owing to the great expense of transporting the necessary material and the high price of food, making labor very dear. This is now changed since the Canadian Pacific Railway has been completed, besides which, a railway is projected to be built to Cariboo, so that supplies can be almost brought direct to the mines, thus materially reducing the working expenses. This rich section of the country is in the same range of mountains which proved such a source of wealth to California, and there is no reason why British Columbia should not reap the same success. What this industry wants is capital, men full of pluck and enterprise, and also possessing prudence combined with common sense, and when this takes place quartz mining will prove an immense benefit, not only to the province, but to the world at large. A rich lead has lately been discovered at Texada Island, about fifty miles from Vancouver, and already a number of prospectors have started to thoroughly survey the land. A number of claims have been taken up, and this may serve as an impetus to a great number of others to search other parts of the province in the hope of finding this valuable metal. The citizens of Vancouver have been alive to the development of this industry, and granted a large bonus to an English company to erect smelting works in their city. These are now completed, and before long will be working full time, as the supply of ore is practically unlimited.

FISHERIES, ETC.

This is already one of the largest sources of wealth in the province, though the field has been comparatively little worked. Canned salmon, which is now so universally used, is put up here in large quantities, being shipped to London and other parts of the world, where it finds a ready market. The rivers of British Columbia teem with this rich fish. Early in the spring they commence to run, and are then caught by the Indians, who bring them to the respective canneries, and they are there sold at a fixed price. Afterwards they are cut up, boiled, put up in tins, and labelled. These fish are also salted in barrels, and shipped to Australia and South America, where they are highly prized. Sturgeon, halibut, herrings, black cod, smelts, flounders, &c., in fact, almost every class of the finny tribe, are found in large numbers. It is only recently that persons have turned their attention to this new enterprise. Before, there was no opportunity of sending fresh fish to the eastern cities, on account of the want of necessary communication. This is changed, as they are now being forwarded by refrigerator cars over the Canadian Pacific Railway to the various markets, where they are considered a great delicacy and fetch high prices accordingly. This industry will very soon assume a rge proportions, and prove a great addition to this country's wealth.

Sealing has for many years been a lucrative employment in British Columbia. Very few people know that a great number of the articles formed from this valuable fur have originally come from this province. There is a fleet of from twenty to thirty schooners annually employed in this trade. They sail principally from the pretty and picturesque port of Victoria in Vancouver's Island and come back laden with their precious freight. The season commences early in the spring, and the vessels proceed to one of the many harbors on the west coast of Vancouver Island, where they engage a certain number of Indians to serve as hunters. Immediately on the approach of fine weather the canoes are hauled up on deck and the schooners sail for the sealing grounds. On arriving there the canoes are let down, each being provided with two Indians, namely a hunter and a steerer. It is rather exciting to see them return at sunset, some with happy faces, others downcast, according to the luck they have had. The fleet returns about May with their spring catch, which is either sold to the skin dealers or sent to London. After this they refit and proceed to the Behring Sea, which ground has proved a constant source of dispute between Americans and Canadians. The former declare it is an act of piracy, while the latter contend it is an open sea, and, as such, free to everybody, provided they keep without the three-mile belt. This year the fleet has been considerably increased on account of its very lucrative returns. There are many other industries which will be started in the near future, and prove profitable, such as potteries and other factories. This country in the next five years will make rapid strides to advancement, and will one day be the richest province in Canada. Its undeveloped resources are immense, and before long will be largely utilized and turned into untold wealth, benefiting not only Canada, but the world at large.

THE CHILCOTIN DISTRICT.

This district extends from the Fraser River on the south-east to the coast range of mountains on the west, and embraces an area of about 100 square miles. Its general appearance is undulating, consisting of hills and valleys. The beautiful scenery of this district charms the eye with its lovely and picturesque views. It is almost entirely covered with grass, being here and there, on the hills, intermixed with trees, but in no place are these sufficiently thick to prevent travelling on horseback. There is comparatively very little forest, but sufficient for all necessary purposes, such as fencing, building, and so forth. Numerous lakes and creeks occur, causing the country to be well watered; some of the former are forty and fifty miles long, and will one day be utilized for navigation. The climate is somewhat variable, in the interior the winter being rather severe, though short, commencing about January and ending about the beginning of April. The snow fall is comparatively light. The coldness of this season of the year can be better understood when we consider that the general elevation is 3000 feet above the level of the sea. The climate of the valleys near the coast is considerably milder, being tempered by the warm Japanese Stream, and the warm winds accompanying it, and also being protected from the interior by a lofty range of mountains. The climate of the whole of British Columbia is greatly modified by the warm Chinook winds which blow from the sea, reaching far into the interior, finding their way from the coast through the mountain passes, reaching the open plateaus above and extending as far as the Alberta Territory in the North-west.

The Indians inhabiting this country are peaceable, and in many parts devote their whole attention to tilling the soil and cultivating cereals of all kinds for their own use.

This district is a great game country, the principal kinds being deer, elk, moose, bear, prairie chickens, geese, ducks, etc., while the lakes and creeks abound in fish.

The Southern portion, along the Fraser River, is partly settled by stock raising men. One of the largest cattle ranches in British Columbia is located here, and has an area of about 37,000 acres, with about 2,000 head of stock. Towards the East is another of considerable size belonging to the Messrs. Drummond, also several more on a smaller scale. There have been several ranches taken up recently in the interior, but the larger portion of the land is still open for settlements. On the Chilcotin River there is a small grist mill which turns out the finest flour in British Columbia, ground from the grain grown in this country. The land, however, is most suitable for pastoral purposes, and is not particularly adapted for farming, being subject to summer frosts sometimes, which are liable to destroy the crops. The rich bunch grass which grows in abundance, and is equally as good in winter as in summer, makes it a very rich grazing country, so much so, that it will one day be one of the greatest stock-raising countries of the West. Cattle ranching on a large scale requires considerable capital, and owing to the want of it this industry is practically undeveloped.

The stock requires to be fed in some winters, but only at such times as the bunch grass is completely covered with snow, which does not as a rule occur every year. However provision can be easily made for this, on account of the large quantities of grass growing on the prairies, which should be cut, turned into hay, and stored for use. Cattle ranching is one of the healthiest occupations in the world, being particularly so in this district, which is not subject to high winds or blizzards, but enjoys a clear, dry atmosphere, making the settler feel light-hearted and buoyant. The stock could be driven either to the head of the Bentick Arm on the coast and from there shipped to the various markets, or inland to Ashcroft Station, on the Canadian Pacific Railway. The latter is the general route taken, as there is no difficulty in the cattle finding feed along the road.

There is a line projected from Ashcroft Station running North, which would tap this portion ofBritish Columbia, and when this takes place it will have easy access to the outside world.

THE HORSE-FLY COUNTRY.

This country extends a few miles from the Cariboo Road, on the north-west, to the Horse-Fly Lake, on the south-east, and embraces an area of about sixty square miles. The land consists of plateaus and valleys, which are intersected by numerous lakes and streams. The valleys as a rule are open prairie, though the hills are lightly timbered.

The general altitude is from 1,500 to 2,000 feet above sea level, and the country is, therefore, less subject to summer frosts than the Chilcotin District. The principal stream is the Horse-Fly, which is of considerable size. A large quantity of gold has been taken from this river, and very rich deposits of this precious metal are still found in this locality. There is a placer gold mine close by, owned by Mr. Harper, which is expected to return good results when further developed. The Horse-Fly Lake is the largest body of water in this district, and there is a range of mountains on the north-east of it which will one day be the centre of a gold excitement. The same range extends north past Quesnelle Lake into the Cariboo country, which was famed many years ago for the rich deposits taken out of it. This country is the best watered in the whole of British Columbia ; the streams and small lakes, which abound with fish, form an almost continuous chain, draining eventually into the main channel of the Fraser River. The summers are simply delightful, and though warm at times, there are fresh, cool winds, which make the season very enjoyable. The extreme heat rarely exceeds 100 degrees, and is but seldom reached. The atmosphere is so pure that it has hardly a rival in this respect in the world. There is a small rainfall, though sufficient, rendering irrigation unnecessary, and the soil, where not subject to summer frosts, is suitable for agricultural purposes. The autumn is clear and dry, with light frosts at night, but warm during the day. Winter commences about the end of November and ends about the middle of March, though there is seldom much snow till January. The cold at this season of the year is sometimes extreme, but high winds and blizzards are unknown. The arrival of the warm Chinook winds are the first signs of the opening of spring, and when these appear the snow rapidly melts, and vegetation grows profusely about April. Then the flowers form a perfect garden, with their varied color and beauty, though unfortunately they are devoid of smell.

The soil of the valleys is extremely rich, being similar and quite equal to that of Manitoba ; that of the hills is more of a lighter, loamy character. The chief value of this country is the great variety of grasses grown in it, all of which are very nutritious and of luxuriant growth. One of these deserves particular attention. It is found in large quantities in the valleys about the lakes, and resembles the sugar cane both in form and sweetness, therefore it is known under this name. It makes the choicest hay, and is extremely rich in fattening qualities, so much so, that it exceeds in this respect the finest cultivated grass. The crop of this averages about three tons to the acre. This variety grows in abundance, and the country being level, there is no difficulty in putting up fodder ready for use in the winter, should occasion require. In other parts of this country there are a variety of other grasses, comprising wild clover, wild timothy, foxtail, timber grass, pea vine, &c. The hills are covered with bunch grass, similar to that grown in the Chilcotin district. Much of the land, more especially that in the valleys, will be used for agriculture. This country is the finest pastoral district in British Columbia, and at present is entirely unsettled, though, as soon as communication is opened up, in the shape of a railway, it will be taken up by stockmen. Though the winter is rather severe and long, with a considerable snowfall, it is more than counterbalanced by the easy provision that can be made to feed cattle in this season by putting up hay in the summer. It is also unequalled as a dairy country in America, having the best water, and this, coupled with the natural milk-producing qualities of the fodder, will cause it one day to take the first rank. It is well adapted for sheep raising, the climate being very suitable.

This country is much superior to the stock-raising districts of the southern portion of British Columbia, there being a never-failing supply of natural fodder and water, while in the latter the growth dies out for want of moisture. Across the plains of this country one can observe several large bands of horses feeding, and their condition in summer is such that, owing to the fattening qualities of the pasture, they are unable to go at their ordinary speed. In the winter they feed on the meadow lands.

BLACK RIVER AND SKEENA RIVER DISTRICT.

The Black River is distant about 60 miles from that of the Quesnelle, and from there to the Skeena River District is a distance of about 300 miles. This country was first explored for the construction of a telegraph line to cross the Behring Straits and thence to connect with the European system. This was in 1865, and was the proposed route of the Western Union Telegraph Company, but was abandoned owing to the successful laying of the Atlantic cable. Since that time the country has not attracted much attention, and has only been used to drive cattle to the Omenica and Cassiar Mines when they were being worked. A large quantity of good pastoral and farming land exists in the Black River and its vicinity, and the prairies are to be found extending northwards to Stewart's Lake, where a Hudson's Bay Trading Post, known as Fort St. James, has been established for many years. In connection with this fort, as is usual with this Company, they have turned their attention to stock-raising and agriculture, besides other business. A large tract of land is cultivated by them, on which is successfully grown wheat, barley, and all kinds of vegetables.

The country as a rule is open, but lightly timbered in places, though everywhere grass may be seen, extending even to the woods. The soil of the valleys is extremely rich, and, as the climate is favorable, though somewhat severe in the winter, it will no doubt be brought into cultivation. The district, extending from the Black River and crossing the Noolthkl, Fraser and Francois Lakes, together with that of the river as far as Decker Lake, is similar in appearance and character to that already described. Around the Francois and Decker Lakes there is grass which would average about two tons to the acre. The telegraph lines are still standing, and they cross the centre of all these valleys, extending as far as the Skeena River, and the watershed formed by the lakes drain into the Fraser on the south-east and into the Skeena on the north-west. From Decker Lake the elevation of the country towards the Skeena River becomes lower and the valleys more defined, extending for a distance of nearly 200 miles north-west to the Skeena River, forming what is considered the richest belt of agricultural land in British Columbia. This at present is wholly unsettled. The Wastonquah River runs through the centre of this valley. This stream, with very little outlay, could be made navigable for light draught steamers and boats. There are also numerous lakes, the largest being the McLean or McClure Lake, causing it to be a well-watered country, with no alkali. This rich valley in many places is over forty miles wide, and there are numerous smaller ones adjoining it equally as good, the whole occupying an area of about 300 square miles. The general climate is excellent and particularly suitable for agriculture, more so in this particular than any of the northern or eastern plateaus of British Columbia. It is almost entirely free from summer frosts, and in no part is irrigation necessary, the rainfall being sufficient, while in the southern portions of this province, such as the Nicola, Okonogan, etc., crops cannot be grown without artificial watering. The winters are somewhat long, extending from about the end of November to the middle of March; the cold, however, is not extreme; it is of a comparatively even temperature, without any high winds or blizzards. The average snowfall is about fifteen inches, making sleighing very enjoyable, without the disagreeableness of a heavy thaw. The atmosphere is particularly clear and bracing at all times; this alone will cause it to settle up very fast as soon as connection is established with the outside world. The soil is generally of a rich black loam, with a clay subsoil reaching a depth of three feet in many places, and cannot be surpassed for agricultural purposes, being greatly superior to that in Manitoba, as the country possesses a much more enjoyable climate, and the crops are not endangered by summer frosts. There is no valley of the same size on the Pacific coast which produces such a natural luxuriant growth; and various kinds of grasses cover the whole surface. The most common are wild timothy, red top and the blue grasses, though bunch grass is not found in this part of the province. Wild fruits grow in abundance, which is a sufficient proof that the soil is well adapted for orchards. Timber is rather scarce in some parts, but where this occurs it can easily be procured by drawing it a few miles, as the distances from where it is to be found are never very great. This valley could be farmed on an extensive scale, as it is an immense prairie on which the most improved machinery could be used; the chief thing which is necessary for the cultivation of the ground would be the breaking of the soil, and, as there are no obstructions, this work would be very easy, especially in comparison to the immense labor to clear other districts of this province which are thickly timbered.

At the mouth of the Wastonquah, where it flows into the Skeena, there is a large Indian tribe who take their name from this locality, besides which there are a Hudson's Bay Trading Fort and a Mission established. Both the whites and the Indians living in this vicinity have raised large crops of grain and vegetables, though only sufficient for their own use.

From here towards the north-west for a distance of about fifty miles the country is similar to that previously described, but after this the land becomes mountainous and swampy until you travel toward the head of the Naas River, where you come into a good grazing country. Then travelling north in the direction of the Stickeen River, near the Cassiar mines, you come across numerous valleys, which have been cultivated in places by the miners, who have raised good crops, and they would most likely have been wiser and wealthier men if they had turned their attention entirely to agricultural pursuits instead of following the uncertain fortune of a gold digger's lot.

The country abounds in game of all kinds, the chief being moose, elk, red deer, bear, prairie chickens, grouse, geese, wild ducks, etc. Wild flowers grow in great profusion, among which might be mentioned the daisy, which is here very common.

The great drawback to the settling of this fertile valley at the present time is the want of communication with the outside world. There is a lofty range of mountains between it and the coast which is quite impassable except for a pedestrian, and even then it is a very arduous and dangerous task. The Skeena is the only river which taps it, but io not navigable, except for canoes, and then only at certain seasons of the year, being attended at the same time with much risk to the adventurer. The Canadian Pacific Railway is about 600 miles distant, and, therefore, of no use as far as this country is concerned. A good wagon road, which was built to the Cariboo Mines, extends about half this distance, and although the remainder is through an open country suitable for pack trains, it is impassable for wagons, though, even if it were, the distance would be too great to render the journey at all profitable. There is a line now projected by the Provincial Government which, if built, will be the means of throwing this rich, undeveloped country open for settlement, and then it will prove a source of revenue to the province.

NECHACO AND PEACE RIVER COUNTRY.

The Nechaco River is about 150 miles long and rises not far from Stewart Lake, and continues its course till it flows into the Fraser opposite Fort George. The country surrounding it is by far the best bunch grass district in the northern part of British Columbia, and, having a large area of meadow land, is particularly well adapted for stock raising. There is a very small amount of good agricultural land, therefore it may be classed as a purely pastoral country. The climate is similar to that of the Chilcotin District. Leaving the Nechaco River, and following in a north-easterly direction towards the Peace River, you come upon Canoe Creek and McLeod Lake, where there is also some good grazing country. Here we are on the borders of the Peace River Country, which was called by a well-known traveller, "The Great Lone Land of North America." This name was not given to it for its want of fertility, but for the great extent of the country it embraces, part of which is in the Province of British Columbia. Fort Laird is situated here. Near this trading post a large quantity of the vegetables consumed by the miners in the Omenica country were grown, and were pronounced first rate in quality; also grain has been raised with very fair success. This portion of the Peace River Country is very suitable for stock ranges. and there is at present a large band of horses owned by a gentleman in this locality that thrive remarkably well, and require no attention at any season of the year. It is here that the Dominion Government received a grant of 250,000 acres from the Provincial to compensate them on account of the broken mountainous country which was intended for the forty-mile belt, and agreed upon by the terms of the Union between the two for the construction of the Pacific Railroad, and was a bone of contention for several years until it was amicably settled in this way.

Following the Peace River eastwards the country quickly descends to a lower level. The waters of this river have cut their way through the clayey nature of the soil to a depth very often of from three to four hundred feet below the general surface of the country, forming a valley of considerable size, with bluffs on each side similar to that of the Colorado River. This in some places is fifteen miles wide; the soil of it is exceedingly rich, and where cultivated has proved remarkable for its fertility, owing chiefly to the protection received from the perpendicular banks. This country might be called an immense rolling plateau, made up of hills, valleys, prairies and woodlands, intersected by numerous lakes and streams, embracing hundreds of thousands of acres of fertile land, which if it were not for the frequency of summer frosts would become one of the largest agricultural districts in Canada. Owing to this it is unfit for farming in a great many places, although in every other respect there is not anything wanting. However, there are parts of it suitable for grain, etc. This country has been spoken of very favorably by a recent writer, but miners and others who have resided in it cannot coincide with him in his opinion, though all acknowledge it is a country of very great natural resources.

The Peace River is navigable for almost its entire length for steamers of light draught. The waters of this country find their way through the Mackenzie into the Artic Ocean, and this river, with its tributaries, forms one of the greatest systems of inland waters in the known world. There are already rumors afloat that this country will be the route of the next transcontinental railway, via Fort Edmonton in the North-West Territory, Lake St. Anne, Athabasca River, following the lake of the same name, and then passing through this country to the Skeena River, and north to Fort Simpson on the Pacific Coast, which is a great natural harbor, and at one time it was thought that it would be the terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

This route would have immense advantages over every other road that has yet been built. There would be no lofty ranges to cross, as that of the Rocky Mountains terminates a little to the north of the Fraser, and this natural barrier, which has proved an obstacle to other lines, would practically disappear, and this new line would, comparatively speaking, cross almost a level country. Snowsheds would not be required, and no blockades need be feared, as the country is entirely free from the blizzards and storms which occur further south. It can therefore be easily imagined that the cost of construction would be very small in comparison to the other great through lines, and also that a great saving in working expenses would be effected, besides opening up one of the richest sections in America which would be quickly peopled on account of its great fertility.

NICOLA AND OKANAGAN.

These districts are situated in the southern part of British Columbia, and are both more or less settled. The resources of their valleys are pretty well known, as they have been frequently described in other publications; therefore it will be unnecessary to go over the ground very fully. They are chiefly noted for their cattle, and also for their mining and agricultural pursuits. The Spallmucheen is the best farming land in this district, as irrigation is not needed, but the same cannot be said for any other portion. Generally speaking, the remainder may be described as a pastoral country, as the scarcity of water for irrigation purposes prevents its becoming a great agricultural settlement. Part of the Okanagan is a splendid fruit country, peaches, apricots, and grapes being raised which are equal to those grown in California. The meat market of British Columbia is supplied from the stock farms in this part.

The climate is considered very beneficial for consumption, and many people suffering from this disease are recommended by their medical advisers to live on the banks of the Nicola, where the atmosphere is exceedingly dry and pure. Many cures have been effected, especially in those cases where the complaint has not made much headway.

KOOTENAY.

This country extends from the Rocky Mountains to the Columbia River. The appearance of the country from here up the Kootenay River, for a distance of about 40 miles, is very rough and mountainous. But from there to the Kootenay and Columbia Lakes, a distance of about two hundred miles, it is principally prairie, and well adapted for stock-raising and agriculture, but the choicest land is that around the Upper Lake. There is steamboat communication on these waters which extends as far as Golden City, a small town on the Canadian Pacific Railway. The whole of this country is partly settled, and since the construction of the railway it has become a favorite location which will soon cause it to be a very thriving district. Gold and silver ledges have been found in its vicinity, companies have been formed to work the same, and they have every faith in their future development. Should these be successful it will prove one of the richest districts in this province, not only on account of its mining industries, but also for the extra stimulus given to agriculture, as the farmers and stock-raisers will be able to dispose of their produce and cattle in their own market. This country embraces a large area of land suitable for cattle ranches, some of which has already been utilised for this purpose, though there are still large tracts waiting for settlement. One of the great advantages is its position; lying as it does between the Canadian and Northern Pacific Railways, it can be easily reached from either side, and is therefore bound to attract the attention of incoming strangers. The climate is dry, and particularly healthy, with an entire absence of summer frosts and sufficient rainfall for all purposes. The winters are mild and the summers moderately warm, making it a favorite resort for invalids.

THE MAIN COLUMBIA RIVER VALLEY.

This valley has a length of between three and four hundred miles, and follows the Columbia River to the base of the Rockies. This river flows through the First Arrow Lake, which is situated about thirty miles to the north of the International Boundary Line. The two lakes, namely the Upper and Lower, form a beautiful sheet of water about 160 miles long. Between these and connecting them is a river, on the banks of which and at the head of the Upper Lake there is a large area of good farming land which is lightly timbered; from here, following the Columbia as far as Revelstoke, the country is heavily timbered, most of which will prove very valuable for lumbering; the soil is however not first-class, though well adapted for fruit raising. From Revelstoke to St. Martin's Rapids the valleys spread out to a width in some places of thirty miles; the soil of these is similar to the previously described, but the timber is not so good in quality. From St. Martin's Rapids to the Rockies the land improves considerably, being lightly timbered in places, though generally an open country possessing a rich soil. Here the Canoe River enters the Columbia, which is navigable from the International Boundary to the Rockies, with the exception of two rapids, namely the Death and St. Martin's, and these could be improved with very little expense. The climate differs somewhat from those mentioned before, as the snow and rainfalls are considerably more, with a moist and humid atmosphere and comparatively mild winters. This may be accounted for by the presence of the mountain ranges surrounding it.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE GROUP.

These islands are situated to the north of Vancouver's Island, and are distant about sixty miles from the mainland of British Columbia. The chief island of this group is Graham Island, and it is by far the wealthiest in natural resources. The eastern part is mostly level, and contains a considerable area of good agricultural land, extending as far as sixty miles along the coast. The western part is covered with low mountains and hills, intersected by numerous lakes and valleys. The general character of the country is prairie, intermixed with small brush and a light growth of timber. The soil is well suited for agriculture and fruit raising, but especially adapted for a grazing country. The Indians have cultivated patches, and the large crops grown by them prove the richness of the land. The hills in many places are covered with a short grass, which would make it a capital sheep grazing country. In some of the mountain valleys spruce and fir are found in large quantities, which will eventually be turned to good account for lumbering purposes. There is situated on the north-west extremity of this island a Hudson's Bay fort, near which there is a large band of cattle; and on account of the mildness of the climate and the rich pasture surrounding them, they do not require any attention during the winter. Coal, both bituminous and anthracite, has been discovered on this island in large quantities, the quality of which has been pronounced by experts to be greatly superior to any found on the Pacific Coast, even more so than that worked at Nanaimo, on Vancouver's Island. This fact has drawn the attention of the shrewdest business men in the province, who have invested largely in these lands, and have shown their belief in their wealth by opening out four different mines. It is the general opinion of scientists that this island will prove an immense coal field. If the operations which have been commenced turn out profitable, they will be increased to a much larger scale, and be able to support a large mining population. Should this take place, the land in the vicinity will be taken up by farmers, as they will have a market close at hand to dispose of their produce. The islands to the south are more mountainous and rugged in appearance, though covered with a short grass, which would be adapted to sheep grazing. However, there are several valleys of good land, among which may be named those of Shingle Bay and Gold Harbor. The latter place took its name from the gold discovered by the Hudson's Bay Company many years ago, which was shipped in the shape of quartz to England, where it was reduced. The climate of these islands is the most equable in British Columbia; although they are so far north, the soft humid atmosphere of the ocean, together with the warm Japanese gulf stream, prevent a marked difference at any season of the year, and renders them extremely mild. The rainfall is considerably less than on the coast of the mainland, which is owing, no doubt, to there being no lofty mountain ranges. Snow seldom falls, but, when it does, soon disappears, on account of the general mildness of the air. These islands are well situated commercially, as there is no difficulty in sailing into the many harbors along the coast. Towing is therefore unnecessary, and thus, coupled with their other advantages, such as coal mining, etc., they will no doubt become a very important naval station. Communication at the present time with other parts of the province is somewhat irregular, though a project is on foot to provide regular service. Another industry which has not yet been mentioned, namely, fishing, though now only in its infancy, will shortly become one of the most important in the province. Fishing stations are being erected along the coast, the waters of which are teeming with fish. Among the various kinds is the black cod, which is considered a very great delicacy, and is caught here in large quantities, and shipped to the eastern market, where it finds a ready sale. Wild fowl abound everywhere, but no wild animal has yet been found existing on these islands.

VANCOUVER'S ISLAND.

This is by far the largest island in British Columbia, and is about 250 miles long, with a breadth of about fifty and sixty miles. The southern part is by far the oldest settled district in the province. The general appearance of the coast is broken and rugged, and to the eye of the stranger would appear rock-bound, though on a nearer approach numerous openings are discovered, disclosing bays and inlets, most of which afford the best of anchorage. The harbors on the west coast are used by the different schooners in the sealing fleet as the base of their operations, from which they sail out with their Indian hunters, who return to their homes at the end of the season. One of the sources of wealth in the province, namely, coal mining, is pursued on the east coast. The chief centre of this important industry is Nanaimo, which, for its beautiful scenery and surroundings, is one of the prettiest towns in the mining world. The principal collieries are owned by Messrs. N. Dunsmuir and Sons and the Vancouver Coal Company, who export a large quantity of coal to San Francisco, where it realizes a much higher price than the home article, on account of its superior quality.

There are some new mines now being opened at Comox, which is situated about fifty miles to the north-east of Nanaimo. These will no doubt in time have an output equal to that of their older rival. This island contains a large area of farming land, some of which is pretty thickly settled, more especially the valleys on the east coast. The north part is supposed to be very rich in coal, and a large quantity of land has lately been applied for by Victoria capitalists in the vicinity. The other principal resources are fishing, lumbering and mining. The general climate is mild, and resembles greatly that of England.

GENERAL REMARKS.

There are numerous other localities which might be mentioned, but space will not permit the ground to be thoroughly worked in a small pamphlet, but, at the same time, for the information of the general public, it might perhaps be better to name a few without entering into general details, such as the Pemberton Meadows, Lillooet, Buonaparte, Bella Coola, Salmon River, Squamish, North Thompson, Bridge Creek, Lower Naas, and numerous other valleys, most of which are suitable for agriculture and stock.

British Columbia cannot be considered a great farming country when we compare the amount of land suitable for agriculture with the area of the entire province, though it cannot be denied that it possesses considerable wealth in this respect, and will eventually support a large farming population. The province is almost alone in the great variety of climate which it embraces, from the moist humid air of the coast to the dry cold or warmth of the interior, with its pure atmosphere; in fact, it might almost be safe to state that in every valley of any size the climate varies somewhat in this respect. Some persons who have only had an acquaintance with a part of this immense country might possibly describe the climate in the district in which they had lived as moist, while others would be equally within the truth by stating that it was dry and cold, and though both statements would appear contradictory, they would be correct so far as their experience had led them to believe.

Strangers arriving by the Canadian Pacific Railway will have a very poor and mistaken idea of the country, as the railway travels through the most rocky and mountainous portion of British Columbia, which, though exceedingly picturesque to the artistic eye, is somewhat disappointing to that of the immigrant who has decided to make it his home. It might be asked why was this route then selected, but this question can easily be answered when we consider that this is the most direct route to the coast, and was chosen on account of the saving of distance. The great advantage this country possesses over many others is that, owing to its varied resources, it could, if needful, be almost independent of the outside world, providing it had the necessary capital to work the same. A person can have no idea of the natural wealth of British Columbia unless one has become intimately acquainted with its natural resources by long residence and extensive travel. Many express an opinion which is given out as authentic, but on examination it very often proves superficial, and is liable to give the public a wrong and mistaken idea for want of proper investigation.

AS AN AGRICULTURAL COUNTRY.

British Columbia has hertofore been looked upon quite generally by people unacquainted with the Province as not fitted for farming. This is an entire mistake. There are mountains, but their are also many level tracts of land of the most fertile kind. In one section alone are upwards of a quarter of a million acres of most productive land, almost wholly free from timber. The numerous fertile valleys are attracting thousands of settlers whose prosperity is unquestionable. The soil is rich, and with a climate so mild and equable that growth continues ten or eleven months out of the twelve, the crops that are produced are phenomenal. Reliable statistics show the yield per acre to be as follows: Wheat, 40 to 60 bushels; oats, 60 to 120 bushels; barley, 50 to 80 bushels; potatoes, 30 tons; turnips, 45 tons. As much as 27 tons of onions have been raised on $1\frac{1}{8}$ acres. Hop growing, a extremely remunerative industry, is just beginning, and efforts are being made for the establishment at Vancouver of a refinery for beet sugar. The growth of the sugar beet, as of all roots and vegetables, is most prolific in this Province, and there is little doubt that the industry might be made equally extensive with the famous beet refineries of Germany.

In the growth of fruit of all kinds the soil and climate of British Columbia, and especially in that section for 200 miles, immediately tributary to Vancouver, are particularly well adapted. Apples, pears, plums, peaches, prunes, cherries, quinces, and various kinds of berries, grow and mature in wonderful luxuriance. A display of these fruits was made at the great Industrial Exhibition of Toronto, 1889, which astonished the hundreds of thousands of people who saw it, and opened the eyes of Canada to the fact that the famous Niagara District of Ontario was not only equalled, but far outstripped by the products of British Columbia. This fruit will be a source of great wealth. The vast prairies of the North-West, which lie adjacent, and where fruits cannot be grown, must look to British Columbia for their supplies, and the demand will increase from year to year. Tens of thousands of young trees and bushes have been planted this year. The scope in this profitable industry is practically unlimited.

Dr. G. M. Dawson of the Geological Survey at Ottawa, our best of scientific authorities, says: "I cannot speak too highly of the grasses and grazing land of the southern part of British Columbia. They are not excelled if they are even equalled by any grazing land I know."

Dr. McGregor, who accompanied the Marquis of Lorne across the prairie in the days before the railway thus describes his first impression of the Rocky Mountains:

"Our first glimpse of that long and magnificent line of gigantic peaks and mighty masses—a broken mountain wall of glittering snow some hundred miles away—was a vision of glory never to be forgotten. On our ascending from a great Indian powwow on the Bow River to the upper level they looked in the clear morning air like a long series of sharp-cut white pyramids built upon the prairie; then the great dog-toothed line rose higher; then the long serrated range of jagged peaks and twisted masses, seen under sunshine almost tropical in its heat and purity, stood out in all its splendor, sharp and distinct as if only a few miles away, their sides blue in shadow, while their peaks and faces were a glittering snow-white, down to the yellow prairie level out of which they seemed to rise. When forty-five miles distant from them, I noted as special features the straightness of the range from the two extreme points of vision, and that though broken into every variety of form, the pyramidal peak predominating, the summit line was pretty uniform like a deep and irregularly toothed saw. I suppose that nowhere else on earth is there such an ocean of verdure bounded by such a shore."

"Such a spectacle as its coast line presents is not to be paralleled by any country in the world.

Day after day, for a whole week, in a vessel of nearly 2,000 tons, we threaded an interminable labyrinth of watery lanes and reaches that wound endlessly in and out of a network of islands, promontories, and peninsulas, for thousands of miles, unruffled by the slightest swell from the adjoining ocean, and presenting at every turn an ever shifting combination of rock, verdure, forest, glacier and snow-capped mountain of unrivalled grandeur and beauty. When it is remembered that this wonderful system of navigation, equally well adapted to the largest line of battle-ship and the frailest canoe, fringes the entire seaboard of your province, and communicates at points, sometimes more than a hnndred miles from the coast, with a multitude of valleys stretching eastward into the interior, whilst at the same time it is furnished with innumerable harbors on either hand, one is lost in admiration at the facilities for intercommunication which are thus provided for the future inhabitants of this wonderful region.

NANAIMO. A prosperous incorporated city on the east coast of Vancouver Island, and on the E & NR, about 70 miles from Victoria. Has daily railway communication with the latter city, and is only six miles distant from the famous Wellington mines at Departure Bay. Nanaimo takes its name from the local Indian tribe, and, as a general thing, the same name is applied to the surrounding region for many miles, including the districts (containing about 100 square miles), known on the Government map as Mountain, Cedar, Cranberry, and Wellington. The city has a background covered with a heavy forest of cedar and fir, while hidden beneath are untold treasures of bituminous coal of various strata and depth, which forms the staple of Nanaimo and its neighborhood. Approached from the harbor the city appears to nestle at the foot of Mount Benson, a hill of considerable elevation, which is nevertheless several miles distant. The building of the city and the laying out of the streets were necessarily affected by the irregular conformation of the coast line, the various indentations of the harbor having caused many deflections in the streets, noticeable to a stranger landing for the first time.

Nanaimo possesses every modern improvement usually found in cities of similar size: telephonic and telegraphic communication, gas works, literary societies, libraries and a well conducted newspaper.

The main source of wealth of Nanaimo is the valuable coal deposits. In addition to this excellent timber and building stone of the finest quality is to be found in inexhausable quantities. Nanaimo is a solid city with never-failing resources.

Nanaimo was not built with the prospect of becoming a commercial emporium or business centre, as is commonly the case with new cities on the Pacific Coast, but was originally intended to be simply a mining village and trading post by its founders—the Hudson's Bay Company—who bought the town plot from the Indians in the winter of 1852. The harbor is safe and commodious, affording secure anchorage for shipping and excellent facilities for quays and wharfs near the shore, where deeply-laden vessels may lie with safety. There are several places along the harbor line which are well adapted for the construction of dry docks, where the requisite outlay of capital would be comparatively light, owing to the adaption of the coast. It is indeed a pretty sight to see upon a summer evening the numerous boating and yachting parties which take their recreation upon the placid waters of the harbor or thread their course amid the islands situated from one to three miles from the city.

The climate differs little from that of Victoria, except that the winter may be a little longer, and the prevalence of high winds from the sea may not be as frequent as in the neighborhood of the capital. The dry weather in summer often continues without interruption for weeks together. As a whole the climate is pleasant.

Amongst the most prominent incorporated institutions are the Vancouver Coal Mining Co. and the Bank of British Columbia. The public schools are well conducted and afford excellent educational facilities. The Sisters of St Ann have a large and flourishing educational establishment for girls, conducted with their well-known ability and care. The agricultural capabilities of the district surrounding Nanaimo are but limited, although in the valleys of the Nanaimo and Millstream rivers, chiefly on bottom or delta lands, several farmers have for years reaped remunerative returns.

There is a daily paper, the Free Press. Also Anglican, Baptist, Methodist, Catholic and Presbyterian churches, excellent water works and efficient fire department. Total value real and personal property, $1,562,741. Bonded indebtedness, none. Population, 5,500. Telegraph, GNW and CPR. Express, Dominion. Telephone facilities. Wm Earl, postmaster.

NEW WESTMINSTER. Frequently styled the Royal City of British Columbia, is located on the right bank of the Fraser River, some 15 miles in a general northeasterly direction from the mouth of that stream.

The position of New Westminster is a most charming and commanding one. It is within a short distance of the Gulf of Georgia, and affords the very best of anchorage ground and wharfage accommodation for large ocean-going vessels.

The City slopes gradually to the north from the river. At many points, in close proximity to the stream, the banks are somewhat abrupt; not so much so, however, as to impede traffic, or the construction of streets and highways. The site on which the Royal city now stands, not many years since was covered with a forest, the growth of which was of such a nature that the clearing of the land was a somewhat expensive operation. Now that it has been done, an unrivalled view of the surrounding country can be obtained from almost any part of the city's hillsides.

New Westminster has made rapid progressive strides within the last two years. This progression has been noticeable since the Canadian Pacific Railway entered it, making that city its fresh water terminus on the Pacific Coast. The business passing over this line already is a large one, and constantly on the increase. A new epoch appears to have reached the city, as in all its industrial, manufacturing and commercial lines the evidences of increased activity and prosperity are apparent. The established manufacturers are extending and increasing their capacities, whilst new ones are in process of construction. Entirely new industries in the province are centering themselves either within the corporation or in close proximity thereto.

The Fraser River salmon fisheries are amongst the leading industries. The great yearly yield under this head is simply astonishing. Next to the salmon fisheries comes the lumber. This to the Royal City is likely hereafter to prove a most important one. It is not a fluctuating industry like the salmon and cannery trade. Already there are three very extensive mills within the city limits; those of the Royal City Planing Company, the Brunette Mills, and the McLaren-Ross Saw Mill Company. This mill is about two miles above the city, on the right bank of the Fraser River.

In other lines of manufactures the city is well represented. Here is situated the only woollen mill in the Province, or, west of Ontario, in Canada. Extensive machine shops, a foundry, carriage works, wholesale jobbing houses, retail emporiums and extensive warehouses, in which are to be obtained all classes of goods, merchandise and manufactures, are to be found in New Westminster. In brief, it is a better commercial mart, on a somewhat lesser scale, than is its patronymical namesake, on the bank of the English Thames.

New Westminster's position is such that its future prosperity is assured. It is in the very heart of the best agricultural section of the Province. With such unrivalled agricultural municipalities contributing to the city's prosperity as are the Delta, part of Richmond, Surrey, Langley, Matsqui, Sumas, Chilliwack and Maple Ridge, the city must continue to flourish. That great natural highway—the noble Fraser River—traverses like unto a huge canal a country, the superior of which is nowhere to be found in point of fertility, and pours the traffic it carries on its bosom into the lap of New Westminster.

A tri-weekly line of steamers plys between this city and Victoria, as well as a daily line to down river points; whilst a daily line (Sundays excepted) plys between the city and points up as far as Chilliwack, and occasionally to Hope, some 80 miles above the city. The Canadian Pacific Railway gives it excellent connections with all points along its extensive system from ocean to ocean by rail. In a short time there will be an unbroken railway connection with all points south, by way of the New Westminster Southern, and the Bellingham Bay and Seattle railroad line. It will be seen that in a period not very remote the shipping facilities and means of transportation enjoyed by New Westminster will not be excelled by those of any other city on the coast.

New Westminster is situated 12 miles distant from Vancouver, with which city it is connected by rail, and between which there run daily stages. The cities are connected by telephone and telegraph. It is on the tapis to construct another line of railway, as well as an electric or motor railway service. The traffic between these twin cities is large, and daily on the increase.

All the secret, benevolent, and charitable societies and institutions are represented in the city. Its sacred edifices are numerous, whilst its educational facilities are the very best. Here are erected the official buildings for the District of New Westminster, such as the Provincial Jail, the Supreme and County Court and Registry buildings. The Provincial Exhibition Building, capable of holding 5000 people; the Provincial Asylum for the insane and the Provincial Penitentiary; and private as well as public hospitals.

The City has an excellent system of waterworks, (costing $250,000). The water flows by gravitation from a mountain lake 8 miles distant, it also has an efficient fire brigade fully equipped. Amongst its citizens are some of the most energetic and enterprising people to be met with in the country. Here there is also concentrated much wealth, and those possessed thereof, as a rule, live a life of ease and enjoyment. As a place wherein to reside few places possess greater facilities for enjoyment and recreation and other social advantages than does New Westminster. Hence it is that its citizens are proud of the Royal City, and they have a just right to be so, for it is in every respect a most desirable place, either as a commercial, manufacturing, shipping, educational or social centre wherein to reside.

The municipalities whose trade legitimately belongs to New Westminster are: first in importance is Chilliwack, with a population estimated at 4,500; the Delta with 2,500, Langley 2,500; Maple Ridge and Surrey, each with 1500, and Richmond with about 800 inhabitants. These are daily increasing in population, wealth and importance. Other municipalities are certain to be formed in the near future.

Everything indicates that New Westminster is destined to become one of our great centres of trade and commerce; a city of metropolitan dimensions, whose trade and commerce will be as wide and as famous as that of any other centre on the coast.

Its chief wealth is derived from its lumber and salmon industries. The farmers of the Fraser Valley (which is by far the best settled district in British Columbia) here dispose of the bulk of their produce, and purchase implements and household requisites for their ranches. There is a branch line of the Canadian Pacific Railway running between here and Vancouver, and another line is projected, called the Southern and New Westminster Road, which will connect it with Bellingham Bay and the American system. The latter is expected soon to be in operation, and will no doubt serve as an extra stimulus to the town's prosperity. There is sufficient depth of water to allow large vessels to load direct at the saw mills, and no doubt with the erection of several new mills, which are now being commenced, it will fast become a thriving and populous city. Population, 7,000. Telegraph, GNW and CPR. Express, Dominion. Telephone communication. John C Brown, postmaster.

VANCOUVER. The second city in the Province; the location is one of the loveliest that could be imagined. Its surroundings are a source of never-failing delight to its inhabitants. In this respect San Francisco, nor any other city of the Pacific Coast of North America, cannot begin to compare with it. The site, which is a great attraction here, is an absolute drawback to many other cities of the Coast. Vancouver is situated upon a peninsula, surrounded on nearly all sides by water. The land rises with a graceful incline from the water's edge, presenting a foreshore clearly defined, and allowing of a facility in draining that must make this one of the cleanest, sweetest and most beautiful cities on the continent. It is the gateway through which must pass, inwards and outwards, a large share of the enormous traffic of the world. Upon one side rolls the vast Pacific, bearing from the distant shores of Japan and China, of Australia and New Zealand, of the hundred and one productive isles of the Southern Sea, the huge cargoes that go to swell the commerce of nations. Their destination is in the uttermost parts of the earth, but they come first to Vancouver. On the other side of this city is the big teaming continent of North America. The rush and roar and torrent of traffic must concentrate, as in a funnel, at this point. These facts being so readily perceived and their meaning so palpable, it is indeed little wonder that Vancouver has, in a little over three years, assumed a growth and importance which it has taken other cities half a century to achieve. It needed only the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, to produce Vancouver as if by magic. This extraordinary growth continues and redoubles each year. The fear has been expressed that this veritable maelstrom of activity would draw in and engulf every other business point in the Province of British Columbia. That fear was ill-founded. The other cities and towns are not declining, but are enjoying a prosperity which may be regarded as a reflection from the meteoric progress of Vancouver. Burrard Inlet, upon the shores of which the city is built, is the first great harbor which indents the coast of British Columbia north of the 49th parallel. Its entrance, which is between Grey Point on the south and Atkinson Point on the north, is well marked. Grey Point, a long wooded promontory terminating in a rounded bluff, is very conspicuous from the southward, while Bowen Island, which lies at the entrance of Howe Sound, and may also be said to form the northern boundary of the Inlet, is very remarkable. Its high, round and very bare summit reaches an elevation of 2,479 feet, and is easily recognized by mariners from any point of view. Burrard Inlet differs from most of the great sounds of this Coast by being extremely easy of access to vessels of any size and class, and in the convenient depth of water for anchorage, which may be found in almost any part of it. It is divided into three distinct harbors, namely: English Bay, or the outer anchorage; Vancouver Harbor, above the first narrows, and Port Moody, at the head of the Eastern Arm of the Inlet. Into this magnificent and land-locked harbor will continue to come, in increasing numbers, from month to month, and from year to year, vessels hailing from every port of commerce in the world. There is ample accommodation for them all.

The traffic of the seven steamships at present plying between this port and China and Japan, although the business is yet in its infancy, is already of such great extent, and is making such inroads into the business of the long established lines running from San Francisco, that the Board of Trade of that city recently memorialized the central government at Washington, that their Pacific trade would inevitably be swept away if large subsidies were not given to their trans-Pacific Steamship Lines. This incident clearly indicates the results that the purely natural advantages of Vancouverer a capable of bringing about. Vancouver's southern rival already discerns the "beginning of the end" of her commercial supremacy on the Pacific Coast. The disbursement of the China-Japan steamers at this port last year amounted to $230,535. This steamship company is now having constructed at Burrow-in-Furness for this traffic three of the finest passenger and freight steamers that have yet been designed. They cost a million dollars apiece. Besides these there are at present plying from the port of Vancouver regular lines of steamers to San Francisco, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, New Westminster, Victoria and Nanaimo, the aggregate traffic of which has already reached very large proportions.

The great Lumber Mills located on Burrard Inlet furnish cargoes for a constantly increasing fleet of sailing vessels. Enormous quantities of the unequalled lumber and timber of these ports are thus shipped to China, Australia, the Sandwich Islands, South America, the East Indies and in fact to almost all parts of the known world, where woods indigenous to British Columbia are not to be found. This is what has been achieved in shipping up to the present; the avenues of trade and commerce are increasing constantly. England now reaches her vast possessions in the east via Vancouver, and she has thus a route which facilitates not only her commerce, but in case of war it would be of incalculable advantage to the Empire. A great line of steamships between this port and the Australian Colonies, and also a cable line of telegraphs, are now projected, and must soon be successfully carried forward to completion.

Briefly stated the foregoing shows some reasons for Vancouver's greatness in its intercourse with the outside world. If the eye is turned inward upon the rich resources of British Columbia there is found to be a scarcely less alluring field for development at home. Around Vancouver the varied interest of British Columbia revolve as upon a hub.

The prime factors in the wealth of the Province are its mines, fisheries, manufactures, forests, agriculture and fruit. It is fully admitted by all competent persons who have made themselves familiar with the matter, that the Province is immensely rich in the precious metals. In years gone past, long before a mile of railroad had been built, tens of millions of dollars in gold have been taken from the placers of Cariboo, Kootenay and the Fraser. It is estimated that not less than $60,000,000 in gold has been taken from the mines of the Province during the past 30 years. The regular business of mining, that which brings it within the list of the established industries of the Province, is just beginning, namely, the reduction of the ores. There is occupation and wealth for many thousands of people in it, just as there has been in Montana, Colorado, Nevada and elsewhere. The work of prospectors during the four years, since the railroad opened up the heart of British Columbia, has shown that there are unlimitable quantities of ores, gold, silver, lead, copper and iron, awaiting only the magic touch of capital to develop and make richly renumerative. In Vancouver a smelter has already been erected. This is a beginning, the end of which it is impossible to forsee. Montana smelts something like $45,000,000 worth of precious metals each year. British Columbia, is shown to be equally rich and equally capable of development.

The forest wealth of those portions of the Province contiguous and tributary to Vancouver is incalculable. At no place else on the continent of America is to be found such magnificent timber. The fir trees of this district, known as the Douglas Pine, many of which are 300 feet in height, and 8 to 12 feet in diameter at the base, furnish timber equal in durability and strength to the famous oak of Old England. Here then is the natural site for the ship yards of the Pacific. There are already nine immense saw mills within a radius of three miles of the city, employing hundreds of hands the year round, and turning out 200,000,000 feet annually of the finest lumber in the world. Much of this, as already noted, is used up in the export trade, and the growing demand is but illy supplied. During the years that these mills have been in operation, so dense are the forests that scarcely an appreciable impression has been made upon them. As much as 43,000 feet has been sawn out of a single log. Besides fir, there is spruce, hemlock and cedar, the latter variety furnishing a finishing timber for the interior of houses and for furniture. It is of exquisite appearance and fine quality. There is also maple, birch and alder in considerable quantities. These are used in two factories in the manufacture of furniture of all kinds, carriages, etc. It will thus be seen that the Province is well and abundantly equipped for all the industries in which wood forms the raw material.

The fisheries in the river and sea, tributary to Vancouver, are increasing in value very rapidly. There is now quite a fleet of fishing boats with its headquarters at Vancouver. The fish of the rivers is the famous British Columbia salmon and sturgeon, which graces the table and whets the appetites of prince and peasant in all civilized countries. In the sea are taken smelts, herring, flounders halibut and black cod, the latter of which has been placed with great acceptance upon the markets and tables of North America only within the last few years. The latest complete returns to hand of the value of these fisheries are for 1888, when the amount was about $2,000,000. That year was one of the poorest for a series of years back. For the current twelve months the sum will be more than double and will probably stand somewhere near $5,000,000. There are 23 Salmon Canneries, and the number of fishermen and cannerymen is given at 5,374. The total salmon pack last year amounted to 430,000 cases, a case contains four dozen 1 lb. cans.

Vancouver's advance in population has been very rapid as will be seen by the following figures, which constitute a close approximate :—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Population | Feb. 1, 1886 | 600 |
| " | Jan. 1, 1887 | 2,000 |
| " | Jan. 1, 1888 | 6,000 |
| " | July 1, 1888 | 7,000 |
| " | Jan. 1, 1889 | 11,000 |
| " | Dec. 1, 1889 | 15,000 |

Perhaps no truer indication of a city's advancement can be had than that of the increase in assessment. The following figures for 1888 and 1889 are official and accurate. Those for 1890, are estimated, but will not exceed the figures that the Assessor's books will show when they are made up in February :—

|---|---|
| 1888 | $3,471,245 |
| 1889 | 6,604,008 |
| 1890 | 9,500,000 |

The educational institutions of Vancouver are keeping pace with the rapid march of progress. The city has now four public and several private schools, presided over by a most competent staff of teachers, and the erection of a magnificent brick building for high school purposes is now nearly completed. The establishment of a University, to be the recognized seat of learning in the Province, is spoken of, and is within the possibilities of the near future.

The principal social, secret and benevolent societies are all represented here, and the stranger in the city finds himself in this respect, as in others, surrounded with all the advantages of the old cities of the east.

Vancouver has three public parks. Stanley Park is the largest, comprising a tract of 950 acres, surrounded nearly entirely by water, and possessing natural beauties that visitors freely admit are not matched in any other park on the continent. It already has a driveway of nearly ten miles around it, over a road as hard and level as a cinder path. Bridle paths and walks are being made through it in many directions, and it is already a source of great enjoyment and benefit to the citizens. The East End Park includes 160 acres, and is now being rapidly improved. A racecourse and athletic grounds are being put in at a cost of $20,000. Another park of 40 acres lies to the south of False Creek. This also is being improved and will be much prized by residents in that favored part of the city.

Churches of all the leading denominations are already established. The Baptist, Catholic, Congregational, Episcopalian, Methodist and Presbyterian bodies have erected fine church edifices. In brief, Vancouver's progress has been such in the past three years as to fairly entitle the city to be recognized as the wonder of the Pacific Coast.

This city, which now commands such public attention, was only a few years back entirely a large forest. About two and a half years ago was burnt to the ground, but i arose from i ashes with renewed strength, and the fire, instea of being a misfortune, proved a great blessing t the city's prosperity. Situated on the borders of the Pacific Ocean it is fast becoming one of the finest cities in the west, and is now designated as the San Francisco of Canada. It will be the natural outlet, not only for the undeveloped resources of the country, but will capture nearly the whole Eastern trade, not mentioning the grain products of the North-West and the manufactures of the Eastern Provinces. When one stands on the wharves and views the amount of shipping alongside, it does not require a very keen imagination to picture its future growth. It is bound to become a very important centre, and when the arrangements for the fast Atlantic and Oceanic steamers are completed, it will be the favorite route for travel, not only for comfort, but also for the great saving of time effected, which will ensure for it one of the largest floating populations in the world. There is bound to be one large city on the west coast of Canada, and Vancouver, being the terminus of the greatest trans-continental railway system in America to-day, namely, the Canadian Pacific Railway, will, without doubt, command that position. The loading and unloading of the China steamers even at the present time, afford occupation for a large surplus population, but when this service is increased it will employ a much larger number. There are numerous branch lines projected as feeders for the main line, and this, coupled with the Canadian and American traffic, will be of immense benefit to its future growth. Its prosperity in the near future is a matter of certainty, and it is sure to increase until it attains the proportions of a magnificent city.

The President of the Vancouver Board of Trade in his annual report for 1889, enumerates the manufactories of the city as follows: smelting and chlorinating works, machine shops, car factory, foundry and iron works, boiler shops, carriage factories, lime kilns, brick yards, furniture factories, cigar factories, breweries, stove and tin ware factories, saw mills, shingle mills, candy factory, ship yard and many others. The following are under contemplation: blast furnace and rolling mills, sugar refineries, flouring mills, grist mill, manufactories of oil clothing, boots and shoes, socks and stockings, tanneries, a paper mill, etc. The Canadian Pacific Railway in their large workshops and other services last year spent $638,224.

A glance at the map of the New Westminster District, of which Vancouver is the head, will show the importance of Vancouver as a railway centre. Within a few months connection will be had, through the Canadian Pacific Railway Branch from Mission, with Seattle, and through the projected Southern Railway, with all the American trans-continental lines. The West Coast and Fraser River Valley Railway will run from Vancouver through the municipalities of Richmond, Delta, Surrey, Langley and Chilliwack, which constitute the very garden of the Province.

As to climate, an important consideration, the summer is warm, even temperature, cool nights. The maximum temperature last year was 90°, and the minimum 2°. The mean temperature for the year was 50° above. During the year there were 50 wet days, 69 partially wet, 48 dull, 67 fine, and 128 very fine. There was snow on 2 days, February 1st and March 1st. There were slight frosts on 5 nights in November, 12 in December, and 6 in January, 1889, half an inch of snow falling on the 16th of that month. The rains are always warm, the thermometer rising immediately the shower begins.

The streets of the city are lit with electricity and gas, and there is an extensive system of street railways. The city is supplied with an abundant supply of pure sparkling water by one of the most efficient systems of waterworks on the continent. The fire protection is as perfect as possible, the 75 hydrants of the waterworks being supplemented for service in the suburbs by two steam fire engines.

The next assessment of the city will reach probably $10,000,000. The value of the buildings erected in 1889 reach a total of $1,500,000. Population, 15,000. Telegraph, GNW & CPR. Express, Dominion. Telephone facilities. Jonathan Miller, postmaster.

VICTORIA. The Commercial Metropolis of British Columbia and the seat of Government of the Province, and the terminus of the E & N R, is beautifully situated on a peninsula at the south-eastern extremity of Vancouver Island. The city is built on an undulating plateau, and has ample room for a population of 1,000,000. It is regarded by tourists as being naturally the most beautiful city on the Pacific Coast, and her enterprising and energetic citizens spare neither pains nor expense to enhance her natural beauty. A stranger visiting the place should drive to one of the numerous mountains in the near vicinity. Mount Tolmie and Cedar Hill are each within an hour's drive from the city. On climbing to the top the view would well repay him for his trouble. He would see a panorama of sea, mountains, forest, farm and city. If the day should be clear, he would be able to see Mount Baker and the snow-capped Olympic Mountains. To the south of the city is the public park, commonly called Beacon Hill Park. This place is being rapidly transformed into a veritable Garden of Eden. Artificial lakes have been made containing islands. On these islands and on the borders of the lake the most beautiful flowers are grown, while representatives of the numerous wild animals of the Province may be seen in the various enclosures. The hill itself lies near the centre of the park, being a conical hill about one hundred feet above the surrounding country, around which is the circular race-track of a little over a mile in length. The late Sir James Douglas showed great forethought in reserving this truly beautiful spot for a park. Cedar Hill, about five miles from the city, has also been donated to the city for a public park, and some steps have been taken to put it into shape. When completed it will have a drive-way winding round and round it to the top. The Gorge, on Victoria Arm, is another point of interest and beauty, and is situated about three miles from the centre of the city. The whole Arm is the great summer resort for picnicing parties. In the suburbs of the city are to be found the most beautiful oak knolls and residential spots, which are being rapidly built on. Victoria contains the most costly private residence north of San Francisco, and palatial residences are to be met with on every hand. The city is well laid out, and all the streets well macadamized, while the magnificent drives through the suburbs will always render it attractive to tourists. It is, without doubt, the prettiest town in the whole of the Province. It has a rapidly increasing population made up of Europeans, Indians, and Chinese. The chief wholesale business houses in the Province are established here, as it was the centre of trade and the basis from which supplies were forwarded, not only for the coast, but also the entire trade of the interior, previous to the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. This has caused it to become one of the wealthiest towns for its size on the Pacific Coast. Nearly all the old pioneers of British Columbia, when they retire, make it their home, having no further desire than to spend their few remaining days in this lovely spot. It resembles greatly a town in the south of England on account of the well-laid-out gardens and the great similarity of the climate. Here rose trees attain great perfection, the soil being particularly adapted to their culture.

It is the headquarters for the salmon and fur trade, and is also the terminus of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway. Another line is projected, called the Victoria and Saanich Railway, which is to be connected with the mainland by a steam ferry. Not far from this town is Esquimalt, which is the Pacific Naval Station, where the dry dock is situated. With all these advantages it is bound to increase in size. There is at present a keen rivalry between Vancouver and this city, which has proved a stimulus to both.

A wonderful advance has been made during the past year. Building improvements alone have been completed to the value of $1,500,000, of which about $100,000 has been for church buildings. The loss by fire, according to the report of the fire department, amounted to only $8,000. The electric tramway, costing about $500,000, and having at present over six miles of track is in good running order. There is every prospect for much greater improvement during the coming year.

The map of the world will show, at a glance, that not only are the distances comparatively favorable across the ocean to Japan, China and Australia, but the direction of the trade winds, the open harbors and vast coal fields must be taken into consideration. Moreover, now that the railroad is an accomplished fact—a road that links the Pacific Ocean with the system of the St. Lawrence navigation on the Eastern side of the American Continent, and traverses, en route, one immense region rich in the products of the soil and wealth of minerals—it is impossible to overestimate the growth of the widely extended commerce that must of necessity follow. The town site rises gradually from the water until it reaches a higher level, where will be found the principal business streets. These streets in turn stretch away beyond, and on to still gradually rising ground, where are located some of the principal residential houses. In London, the metropolis of England, the seat of government is removed a short distance, namely to the Court of St. James at Westminster; and so here the seat of government is removed across the bridge to the Westminster of Victoria on James Bay. Another "arm" of the harbor extends in a northerly direction three miles inland, reaches nearly to Esquimalt, the headquarters of the British squadron. Turning to the map of Victoria it will be seen that she commands the whole of the rich sounds, gulfs and inlets which spread themselves for hundreds of miles around, tapping the vast regions of undeveloped wealth that centre to these deep waters down countless canyons and sloping valleys; whilst not only is she the first port that greets the hardy argonaut on his safe return to shore, but Vancouver, New Westminster, Wellington, Nanaimo and Whatcom on the north and east, and Olympia, Oakland, Port Angeles, Tacoma, Seattle and Port Townsend from the south, with all the other places rapidly growing into importance along these shores must pass through her gateway. As showing the importance of her geographical position, the English Government made it a condition precedent to the granting of the large subsidy to the line of steamships to China and Japan that all their boats, outward or inward bound, must cal at Victoria. Moreover, not only is it the seat of the Provincial Government, but the Home and Dominion Governments also have vast and special interests in Victoria, where are located strong fortifications, with extensive victualing yards, naval yards and coaling stations established as the headquarters for the British fleet in the Pacific waters. Such, then, briefly, is her important geographical position for commerce and trade and naval and military defence, nor is her position for health and enjoyment, as a residential centre, less attractive.

So numerous are the opportunities for safely investing capital in this long established city that we can only make a brief mention of a few of the most prominent ones. In the first place Victoria is not a city built last year or the year before that, but has been steadily growing in size, wealth and importance for the last forty years. When a bona fide industry comes to Victoria, it comes to stay, and if necessary the city council contributes largely to that end. In the past bonuses have been given to several large manufacturing concerns, and the citizens are always prepared to help any industry which will be of material advantage to the city. The surrounding country abounds in the best of agricultural lands, adapted to all classes of farming, horse, cattle and sheep raising, the latter an industry which ought to be more extensively developed. Large amounts of money could be advantageously used in developing the natural resources of this wonderfully gifted Province, the mines of precious metals, coal and iron, the quarries of marble and granite, the great timber claims still to be taken up. Then again, the waters abound in an abundance of fish of all varieties, far more valuable fisheries than those of the Atlantic Ocean, because they have never been thoroughly fished, the salmon being the only fish largely sought after. We can think of no manufacturing interest that would not pay. Woolen, flour and paper mills, and more lumber mills might be especially mentioned.

Victoria ranks as fifth port in the Dominion. The exports for the year 1889 were as follows:

EXPORTS—PORT OF VICTORIA, 1889.

|---|---|
| Mines (Gold) | $ 490,825 00 |
| Fisheries | 2,206,950 00 |
| Forest | 105 00 |
| Animals (Furs) | 384,924 00 |
| Agricultural | 772 00 |
| Manufactures | 34,439 00 |
| Total | $3,118,015 00 |

The imports for the same period were $2,913,198.

Victoria carries on trade with the United States, Great Britain, Australia, China, Peru, Chili, Sandwich Islands, Japan and Mexico, in coal, fish, hides, treasure, lumber and furs. Among the leading resources of the town, apart from its position as a government, social and educational centre, and a manufacturing and commercial city, may be named the sealing interest, the fishing and Indian trade of the northwest coast, and the fur trade of the Hudson Bay Company. Last year twenty-two British and eight foreign sealing schooners brought to this port a catch of 35,310 skins, valued at $247,170.

The shipments of gold dust from the banks amounted to nearly half a million dollars.

The salmon pack for 1889, of which the greater part was handled by our merchants, realized the enormous value of $2,288,617. There have also been several shipments of salted and frozen fish, including the produce of the skil fishery, a new industry.

The coal output of Vancouver island amounting to 548,503 tons against 489,300 for 1888, included the first shipments from the great Union mines near Comox.

It is estimated that apart from all the business set forth above upwards of 70,000 tourists visited the city last summer. The principal commercial needs of the community are the establishment of a tourist interest on our north-west coast, the extention of the Island railway to Fort Rupert, the construction of the Canada Western Central, connection by ferry with the American system of railways, and the establishment of manufactures.

The population in 1863 numbered 6,000, in 1886, 14,000, and is now 20,000, besides some 2,500 Chinese and a few Indians. The increase last year is estimated at 5,241. But apart from the immediate prospect of the city becoming large and prosperous by reason of the natural wealth of the country, there is a promise far greater before our eyes. Esquimalt has become a naval station. The island railway has made tributary to it the supplies of large settlements, the richest coal fields of the North Pacific, and ultimately the iron of Texada. The choicest spars in the world, and a dry dock that cost $900,000 are added to its value as a seaport. The place is entirely healthy; the anchorage is very large, the shelter perfect, and the approach can be made blindfold, so wide is the channel and so regular are the soundings. The present railway terminus, Vancouver, can only be safely approached by Haro straits, commanded by a foreign power, which can make them utterly impassable. Moreover, Esquimalt is seventy-five miles nearer to Asia. Esquimalt is indeed nearer to Asia than any other available railroad terminus except Fort Simpson. But Fort Simpson has no possible farming land, and is not easily approached from the Pacific. Esquimalt harbor, therefore, is the natural terminus of the Canadian railway system. Strategically as England is to Europe so must this island be to North America. As the English Channel is to the one, so must the Straits of Fuca be to the other. And as London is to the Old world, so will the great terminus be to the New. It has been the great hope of three centuries, a north-west passage round the world by sea. And now at last this passage is disclosed. Not as the Spaniards, and Cook, and Vancouver, and the Russians, and the French all sought to find it; that sea route to the Indies that Columbus first sought in vain. We Caucasians of Central Asia have overcrowded Europe, and overrun America, and are now seeking our Imperial Highway round the planet. Here at Victoria the tide of immigration from old Asia has met us, and at the confines and meeting of the two great tides, the Chinese are our servants. We have paused at the western limit of the New World to find the shortest way across the Pacific Ocean. The natural terminus of the best route is Esquimalt harbor. And so Victoria sits triumphantly by the Straits of Fuca waiting the consummation of this most singular series of events to become one of the great cities of the world.

It is just a hundred years ago since our harbors were discovered by a Spanish exploring expedition. This centenary finds a prosperous, growing state, and solid foundations of a metropolis. Capital of a territory of some 350,000 square miles, with all its future lying as buried treasure awaiting the hand of man; western seaport of the New World, bidding for all the commerce of the Indies, and Cathay and the South Seas, a wider prospect than was seen by Columbus and Balboa. Victoria, even in the immediate future, must be a large city, but has a destiny which it would be hard to estimate.

In the sober realities of to-day we have more openings for capital than we can possibly do justice to, for, for every dollar in our pockets there is a fifty dollar investment in coal, gold, fish, or timber, real estate or railways, an investment which might be made with confidence of a fair return. Even money entrusted to brokers for small and casual investments in mortgages or house property returns from six to ten per cent. after payment of commission, and our banks are among the most successful on the continent.

With the gold fevers began the organization of the city. The first newspapers were started in 1858. In 1859 the police force, land office and courts of justice were organized, and their officers appointed. In 1860 the government buildings and James Bay bridge were built, four church bodies, a hospital and several secret societies were organized. In 1861 the city began manufacturing, the Albion Iron Works, now the largest north of San Francisco, and a furniture factory being started, and followed in 1862 by gun making and harness making. In 1875 soap works and spice mills were erected, and at that date there existed brass works, planing mills, a boot factory and cigar factory, and ship building on a small scale had long been in progress. To these have been added four boot and shoe factories, lithographing and printing houses, four wagon and carriage factories, another furniture factory, a saw mill, a box factory, wire works, corset factory, vinegar and pickling, meat packing, book-binding, cracker baking, cooperage, cigar and cigar box, and other factories, an oatmeal mill and more soap works. There are now two lumber yards, stone yards, ship yards, ice factory, and many other important industries. The city was incorporated in 1867, and the wonderful organism of it has kept pace with a steady and rapid growth in the rate of which Victoria is the third town in Canada. The market to appease a growing appetite for fuel, food and water, together with the needful drainage, the arteries of the streets, the cellular tissue of houses, the nerves of the telegraph and telephone, the sight of gas and electric light, the brain tissue supplied by our unusually good book stores and library, the ears of the newspapers, the tongue of members of parliament, the public press, and the lungs of recreation, and the making and using of the human blood, have all been as healthy and perfect as could be desired. If the schools and churches and good behavior of the city are an indication of its moral condition there is little fear for it, for Victoria is as orderly as an English country village.

In 1837 the steamer Beaver had found her way into Victoria harbor, then Camosun Bay. In 1842 James Douglas, after a careful survey, selected this as the site of the proposed settlement, and in 1843 the "Beaver" conveyed an expedition to the place where, on the 19th of March the erection of Fort Comosun was begun.

When Great Britain relinquished Oregon, Camosun became Fort Victoria, the Company's base of operations on the coast. A large fur trade was developed, and the island was leased from the Crown for the foundation of a colony. A little village grew up under the walls of the Fort, of not 300 people, laid out as a town in 1852, an arrangement in log houses and mud, which, as the menace of the Indians grew less, waxed very independent and fond of politics, until at last, in 1858, it became the capital of a real Crown Colony, with Sir James Douglas as Governor.

Fabulous quantities had been found of both coal and iron. Gold, also, had been seen and even worked in many places. Hopes, expectations and rumors filled the air with a promise of great things to come; and then with the rush of a tidal wave a population was hurled headlong into the quiet settlement, and the first mad Gold Fever was begun. The population under canvas here that winter has been estimated at from twenty to thirty thousand; hotels, wharves, stores, places of amusement, etc., rose like magic, and when in 1859 the wave had rolled back of the disappointed from the Fraser gold field, there remained a town of 3,500 people, while 3,000 more were exploring and mining in the interior. The Fraser river excitement has been followed by the Cariboo, Leach river, Omineca, Stickeen, Cassiar, Kootenay and Yukon gold fevers, and these have all in turn added to the commerce of Victoria, and aided in the exploration and settlement of the country.

A union of the island with the new mainland colony, followed in 1871 by the Federation of Canada has opened the eyes of all men to a great reality. There was yet to be a further and greater Federation, and Victoria was not to be a mere trading post, nor yet an abortive settlement, nor was its destiny to supply whalers, Russian fur traders, or even gold miners. It was destined to become a great and splendid city.

On January 1, 1886, the Victoria paid fire department was organized with the late C. J. Phillips as chief engineer. Previous to that date, the organization was a volunteer one. The department in 1886 consisted of one chief engineer, one assistant engineer, three foremen, eighteen hosemen and hook and ladder men, two engineers and one driver. During the first year of the paid department the fire loss amounted to $148,000. The second year, 1887, passed with a fire loss of $39,000 and the record for 1888 showed a loss of property valued at $16,000. During last year the record showed another decrease, the total loss amounting to the small sum of $9,000. The apparatus in use comprises three steam fire engines, seven hose reels, two hook and ladder trucks and 9,000 feet of hose. The houses, rolling stock, apparatus and horses are valued at $38,000. Since the organization of the paid department the corporation purchased a Merryweather steam fire engine at a cost of $6,000. A new 70-foot ærial truck was also purchased at a cost of $4,400, and horses were placed in three fire stations. It is the intention of the fire wardens to purchase a chemical engine, and in a short time the electric fire alarm will be in use. A great deal of credit is due the officers and members of the fire department for their promptness in extinguishing fires. The low insurance rates and general commendation expressed on all sides is appreciated by the firemen. The following officers and members, in addition to a volunteer company across James Bay, comprise the paid fire department: Thomas Deasy, chief engineer; C. N. Gowen, assistant engineer; M. J. Conlin, R. Liddell and D. F. Fee, foremen; C. Bush and F. Atkinson, engineers; J. Gardner, J. Hunter and W. Deasy, drivers; W. Brice, J. Bryce, C. Palmer, A. Smith, J. Winterhalter, hook and ladder men; E. Whitcomb, F. Hinds, F. Leroy, T. Farrell, J. Hay, H. Smith, H. McDowell, Geo. Gowan, W. Neal, G. Ledinghan, T. Hodges, E. Mc Donald, hosemen. The fire wardens are alive to the requirements of the city. The following alderman are fire wardens: William Wilson, chairman; Louis Vigelius, and John Robertson.

Although between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 was invested in building last year the assessors discovered that in the Fall there were not more than five habitable tenements empty in the city. The hotels also have proved too small, and the proprietors of the Driard were planning a seven story addition to their building when it was announced that the Canada Western Hotel Company were about to erect an immense establishment on Government street, overlooking James Bay. The site is now being prepared and this year we shall see upwards of a quarter of a million dollars well invested in them. Nothing could give more substantial help to the city than attention to the wants of travellers.

The Presbyterians having built a large and costly church, the Catholics are to follow their good example by building a beautiful Gothic cathedral at a cost of from $70,000 to $75,000. The Pandora street Methodist congregation will spend about $65,000, and the First Presbyterian church is also considering the question of increased accommodation. But besides these magnificient sums spent in the making of fit places for worship, the city corporation is doing noble work in the public service. Extensive works in Beacon Hill park, an addition to the city hall, improved water supply in several districts, the grading of new streets, a proposed enlargement of the cemetery and other undertakings are planned or under contract.

A bonus has been offered to the Mount Royal Milling Co, of $10,000 to build a flour mill with a capacity of not less than fifty barrels a day, and to this the company will add a large warehouse. A further bonus of $40,000 is offered by the council if before July 1, 1891, they will have in operation a sugar refinery turning out fifty barrels a day.

council $15,000 as an inducement to him to build a paper mill worth $50,000.

Barracks are being erected for C Battery, RCA, at McCaulay Point, and it is proposed to lengthen the dry dock at Esquimalt to accommadate the very largest ocean liners. We are also to have a local fire insurance company.

The Pioneer Society, and the YMCA, have found large and handsome quarters.

It would be difficult to enumerate all the business blocks and private dwellings now under contract. Large blocks are to be built on Government street and its corners on Fort, Broughton and Johnson streets and others on every one of the principal thoroughfares. The real estate of Victoria is now valued at $9,000,000, and it is a safe prophecy to make that it will be worth a great deal more than ten millions before the close of 1890. Population, 20,000. ## HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

All even numbered sections excepting 8 and 26 are open for homestead entry (160 acres) by any person, sole head of a family, or any male over age of eighteen years.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office in which the land to be taken is situated or if the homesteader desires he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, or the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, Winnipeg, receive authority for some one near the local office to make the entry for him. A fee of 10c. is charged.

Under the present law homestead duties may be performed in three ways, to be decided on making entry:

1. Three years cultivation and residence, during which period the settler may not be absent for more than six months in any one year without forfeiting the entry.

2. Residence for three years within two miles of the homestead and afterwards actual residence for three months in a habitable house erected upon it prior to application for the patent. Ten acres must be broken the first year after entry, fifteen acres additional in the second and fifteen in the third year; ten acres to be in crop the second year and twenty-five acres the third year.

3. A settler may reside anywhere for the first two years, in the first year breaking five, in the second cropping said five and breaking additional ten, also building a habitable house. The entry is forfeited if residence is not commenced at the expiration of two years from date of entry. Thereafter the settler must reside upon and cultivate his homestead for at least six months in each year for three years.

Application for patent may be made before the local agent, any homestead inspector or the intelligence officer at Medicine Hat or Qu'Appelle station.

Six months' notice must be given in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, by a settler of his intention prior to making application for patent.

Intelligence offices are situated at Winnipeg, Qu'Appelle Station and Medicine Hat. Newly arrived immigrants will receive at any

DESCRIPTIVE OF MANITOBA.

Manitoba, a Province of the Dominion, bounded on the North by Keewatin and Saskatchewan, South by Minnesota and Dakota (U.S.), Eastby Ontario, and West by Assiniboia; lies between latitude 49°-53° North and longitude 90°-101° West, and occupies a central position on the North American continent, being midway between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans on the East and West, and the Arctic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico in the North and South. Area 73,720 square miles. Population (1885) 65,945, (1886) 108,-640, showing an increase of 64.57 per cent. during the quinquennial period, and a density of 1.47 persons to the square mile. The greater portion of the Province consists of perfectly level prairie, covered during the summer months with a rich vegetable growth, which affords excellent pasture ranges. Trees are found growing on the banks of the rivers, and the varieties include the elm, ash, oak, poplar, basswood, maple, etc. The soil is a deep dark mould or loam, resting on a hard and tenacious clay subsoil, and is well adapted to the growth of all kinds of cereals, especially wheat, which grows very heavy. In 1887 the average yield per acre was as follows:—wheat, 28 bushels; barley, 35 bushels; and oats, 50 bushels. In 1884 the yield of potatoes per acre was 192 bushels; turnips, 422 bushels; and carrots, 271 bushels. Garden vegetables of all kinds, and also the smaller fruits, are easily raised. The climate is one of heat in summer, and extreme cold in winter; but the air being dry and bracing, the cold is not felt so much as in a more humid atmosphere; the mean heat during the months of June, July, and August is 65° to 67°, and during December, January, and February, 5° below zero, but the thermometer sinks as low as 30°, 40°, and even 50° below zero. The rainfall is confined chiefly to the months of spring, the summer and autumn usually being dry. The Province is watered by numerous rivers, the chief of which are the Red, Winnipeg, Assiniboine, and Souris rivers. The greater part of Lakes Winnipeg and Manitoba are within its area, and abundant supplies of water may also be obtained by digging wells in the prairie. Manitoba, which was formerly known as the Red River Settlement, was formed into a Province and admitted into the Dominion in 1870. The Government is vested in a Lieutenant-Governor, assisted by an Executive Council of five members, and a Legislative Assembly of thirty-five members. The CPR traverses the Province, and along its route are numerous towns and rising villages. Chief towns—Winnipeg, the capital, Portage la Prairie, and Brandon. Manitoba is well provided with schools, educational institutions, and churches of various denominations.

The North-West Territory, in which Manitoba was then included, was acquired from the Hudson's Bay Co. and added to the Dominion of Canada in 1870. A province was then created and the name of Manitoba, which had been applied by the Indians to the lake still so named, was bestowed upon it. Manitoba, in the Indian language, means "The voice of the Great Spirit," and the lake was so called by the Indians, it is said, from the fact that at a certain part of what is known as the "Narrows" of the lake the rushing of the water produces a sound which was superstitiously said by them to be "The voice of the Great Spirit," (Manitou). Manitoba has been at different times in the history of the country, alluded to as the Red River country, the Red River settlement, Fort Garry, the Selkirk settlement, the Hudson's Bay territory, Rupert's Land and Assiniboia. Manitoba is often spoken of as the Prairie Province, and it is well so-called—prairies being its most striking feature—though, eastward from Winnipeg, it is true there is a region of almost unbroken forest, widely different from the kind of country extending for thousands of miles west of the city. Not only Manitoba, but the whole North-West, has a romantic interest and a fascination about it which must inevitably be felt by all travellers who have the slightest appreciation of nature in her wild and untamed aspect. For many years it was considered that Manitoba was a cold and inhospitable land unfit for cultivation, and it is only within a comparatively short period that the great agricultural wealth and fertility of the country has been made known to the people of Eastern Canada, the United States and the Old World. Yet Col. Butler, in "The Great Lone Land," a work which he published after an exploring tour through this country some twenty-five years ago, strongly testified to the fertility of the Red River Valley, and

Prof. Hind in the same year wrote: "No fact is more satisfactorily determined than the adaptation of the climate of Assiniboia (now Manitoba) to the cultivation of wheat. Forty bushels to the acre is a common return on new land. The soil is a rich, deep, black mould or loam, resting on a deep and tenacious clay subsoil. It is among the richest soil in the world, and especially well adapted to the growth of wheat. The wheat produced is very heavy, averaging from 62 to 65 lbs. to the bushel, and the average yield in the whole Province is nearly 25 bushels to the acre, and in hazard by plowing for wheat invariably in the fall (possibly by sowing in to the last days of October), and the gradual acclimitization of the softer and earlier varieties."

It is one of the healthiest countries in the world, being entirely free from malaria, and is a most pleasant place to live in. Its southern boundary is a little to the south of the parallel of Paris, or on a line with the southern portions of Germany, and in the summer season the weather is as warm as in those countries, while the winter weather is clear and bracing. It has a great future before it, and the northward movement of industry will speedily fill the land with happy and prosperous homes.

tional establishments. Being the centre of a fine fertile district, where large quantities of wheat are grown, there is a large carrying trade, for which great facilities are afforded by the railroad lines, and by the navigable rivers, with their well equipped steamers. The city is also gradually rising in manufacturing importance. The rivers are spanned by several substantial bridges, and the city is rapidly extending in every direction. The city is well represented by newspapers, there being two daily, the Free Press and Tribune, eight weekly and six monthly, all being in a flourishing condition, and a credit to any commercial centre. Among the banking and financial institutions in the city will be found the Bank of Montreal, Bank of Ottawa, Bank of British North America, Commercial Bank of Manitoba, Imperial Bank of Canada, Merchants Bank of Canada, Union Bank of Canada, Alloway & Champion; Osler, Hammond & Nanton and Allan, Brydges & Co.

The history of Winnipeg with its wonderful growth and marvellous progress reads like a chapter from some work of romance. It seems almost miraculous that in the short space of fifteen years there has arisen the city of to-day. Fifteen years ago no city, no railroad, no street, no church, no school house, no home, nothing but a small post of the Hudson Bay Company, where the native Indians gathered to dispose of their furs. To day, the thirty thousand people, the twenty-five millions of business massive mercantile blocks, railways connecting with the Atlantic and Pacific and stretching to the great cities of the United States; churches, school houses, mansions, residences, electric light and street railway, provide the comforts and refinements of the highest type of civilized life. It is indeed one of the marvels of the age, a growth unprecedented, a progress unsurpassed in the history of the world. Nowhere on either hemisphere has there been a parallel case. It is the commercial, educational and great railroad centre of the West. Winnipeg stands alone in her onward march of development. Yet after all, when all the facts are considered, there is nothing strange in the circumstance that to-day, where but a few years ago the savage pitched his wigwam or chased the herds of countless buffalo, there has been built a city of metropolitan proportions. Explorers in this western land, wiser than others of their own generation, foresaw the brilliant result, and with wonderful intuition predicted that upon this spot, at the junction of the Red and Assiniboine rivers, there must of a certainty arise a city into whose lap would be poured the wealth and products of the vast and fertile country stretching to the far western confines of the prairie region. Col. Butler, in "The Great Lone Land," wrote: "It is impossible that the wave of life which rolls unceasingly into America can leave unoccupied this great fertile tract. The plain through which the Red river flows is fertile beyond description." And again in 1860, Mr. J. A. Dickenson, in a report to Prof. Hind on his exploration of the valley of the Qu'Appelle, said: "As I stood upon the summit of the bluff (he had ascended an elevation near Crooked Lake), looking down upon the glittering lake three hundred feet below, and across the boundless plains, no living thing in view, no sound of life anywhere, I thought of the time to come when will be seen swiftly passing along the distant horizon the white cloud of the locomotive on the way from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and when the valley will resound with the merry voices of those who have come from the busy city on the banks of the Red river to see the beautiful lakes of the Qu'Appelle." The vision of the explorer has become a reality, and to-day, twenty-six years later, the iron rails stretch across the continent over Canadian soil, and through the busy city of Winnipeg, on the banks of the Red river, daily trains pass from the coast of the Pacific onward to the crowded seaports of the Atlantic, and ere many months have passed the products of this great western country will hence be taken to the shores of Hudson's Bay and there transferred to vessels bound for the shores of England. Winnipeg's position is supreme. It may please jealous rivals to deny it, but a glance at the map of the North American continent, coupled with a thorough knowledge of the great extent and resources of the vast North-western region to which it is the doorway, must convince the unprejudiced mind that no other place possesses such advantages of position. Said Lord Lorne in 1881: "Unknown a few years ago, we now see Winnipeg rapidly lifting itself to the front ranks amongst the commercial centres of the continent. We may look in vain elsewhere for a situation so favorable and so commanding—many as are the fair regions of which we can boast. There may be some among you before whose eyes the whole wonderful panorama of our Provinces has passed—the ocean garden island of Prince Edward, the magnificient valleys of St. John and Sussex, the marvelous country, the home of Evangeline, where Blomidon looks down on the Fundy, and over tracts of red soil, richer than the weald of Kent. You may have seen the fortified paradise of Quebec, and Montreal, whose prosperity and beauty are worthy of her great St. Lawrence, and you may have admired the well wrought and splendid Province of Ontario and rejoiced at the growth of her capital, Toronto, and yet nowhere can you find a situation whose natural advantages promise so great a future as that which seems ensured to Manitoba and Winnipeg, the Heart City of our Dominion." Years ago, Mr. Lindsay Russell, Surveyor General of the Dominion, exclaimed: "Winnipeg is situated advantageously as a railroad and commercial centre. It has before it as a city a great future. It will be the entrepot of one of the largest food-producing areas in the world." And the Hon. B. R. Langdon, of Minnesota, remarked: "In my opinion Winnipeg must be to the Canadian Northwest what Chicago is to the United States Norh-west. You have competition both by rail and water, in the centre of the mining district, and at the gateway of the wheatfield, and in fact the half-way house across the continent." Sir A. T. Galt said, "Winnipeg is bound to be one of the largest cities of this continent. I do not see anything within 500 miles of this place which can compete with it as a commercial centre. I believe that Winnipeg will always be the largest city in the North-west." These have been the predictions of many distinguished men who have visited the city, and how correct were their estimates of the future the record to-day shows. Winnipeg has gone ahead with a rush unprecedented in the history of cities in ancient or modern times, and as Earl Carnarvon aptly puts it: "The opinion was expressed by Plato two thousand years ago that' Time, infinite time, is the maker of cities ;' but had Plato lived in these days he would have had to qualify his assertion if he had seen Winnipeg start into existence in two years." "It is sufficient to say," observed Rev. Dr. Cochrane, of Brantford, after a visit to this city, "that it is certainly the wonder of the continent. No American city can present such a rapid development."

The geographical position of Winnipeg may be described briefly as follows : It is situated at the junction of the Assiniboine river with the Red river, along the west bank of the latter stream. It is about forty miles south of Lake Winnipeg, and is the great central mart for Canada between Lake Superior and the Rocky Mountains. Within the limits of a circle, described at a distance of 150 miles from the city, she is the objective point for all the trade arising from the development and cultivation of varied industries and natural productions. So completely is Winnipeg the central point in the Canadian West, that not a passenger, nor a letter, nor a pound of freight is transported in Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific, or, indeed, from the east to any point in the Canadian prairie lands, but is routed via Winnipeg.

Railways strike out from the city like branches from the parent stem of a tree. Those actually constructed are as follows : East and west, the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The Emerson branch, running to the international boundary line and connecting with the United States system of railroads. The Pembina Mountain branch, running to the boundary line and extending through the south-western portion of the Province. The South-Western Colonization Railway, supplying the country south of the Assiniboine river, and contemplated to be continued to the Souris coal fields. The Selkirk branch, running down the west bank of Red river to near Lake Winnipeg. The Stonewall branch, through a good section of country to the north-west of the city. The Hudson's Bay Railway, forty miles of which are completed. The main line of the Northern Pacific and Manitoba Railway, south to the international boundary line. The Portage branch of the Northern Pacific and Manitoba Railway to Portage la Prairie, on the west. Nearly all these lines have branches or sub-branches tributary to them which act as feeders and give access to Winnipeg from all parts of the Province and North-West Territories, yet within reach of any line of rail. Two railway lines projected south-easterly have also been incorporated, and the intention of these corporations is to construct lines south-easterly to the international boundary line, and there join with the Duluth and Winnipeg Railway in a direct route to Duluth.

Winnipeg is 66 miles north of the international boundary line between the United States and Canada. Practically speaking it is on the eastern edge of the great prairie country which extends in this latitude from the line of the Red river west to the Rocky Mountains. Ever since white men explored what is now known as the Canadian North-West, the site of Winnipeg has been recognized as a central one for all matters of trade. It has been aptly expressed that "Winnipeg is the neck of a double funnel whose mouths gather the traffic of an empire and three oceans, the Atlantic, Pacific, and great lakes." With the growth of the West and ever increasing wants of the East, who will set a limit to prairie products when the iron, coal, oil, salt, and other products of near tributary districts are developed, and the fertile Province of Manitoba be under grain and cattle." One illustration to show how thoroughly central Winnipeg's local position is as regards the different known resources of the surrounding country : To the east are the mining and timber districts of the Lake of the Woods ; to the north the mineral deposits, timber areas and great fisheries of Lake Winnipeg ; to the north-west the timber, salt deposits and fisheries of Lakes Manitoba and Winnipegosis ; to the west and south the fertile grain lands which stand unrivalled in producing the finest of all wheat known in the markets of the world. In all these directions are even now to be found vast herds of cattle, horses, sheep and other live stock.

Previous to 1871 the merchants of Manitoba were obliged to cart their goods over the prairie from St. Cloud, in Minnesota, to Fort Garry, but in that year, Mr. James J. Hill, of St Paul, placed a steamer called the Selkirk on the Red river to run between Moorhead and Winnipeg. This was the first regular freight and passenger boat placed on the route ; and, as an instance of the rapid increase in the trade of Manitoba, it may be stated that when the Pembina branch railway was opened for traffic there were no less than fifteen steamers plying to and from Winnipeg. In 1870, Winnipeg had only a weekly mail from the east via Pembina, and a very irregular one at that, but in 1871, a stage line having been established between Moorehead and Winnipeg, a tri-weekly mail was received which was still further increased in 1872 to be a daily one. When the Pembina branch was regularly opened, the stage line was discontinued and postal matter was brought in by rail. On the 20th of November, 1871, telegraphic communication was established between Winnipeg and the east.

REAL ESTATE,

Loans and Insurance.

WINNIPEG, - - - MANITOBA.

WONDERFUL WINNIPEG. The future Chicago of Canada. Real estate is lower to-day in Winnipeg than in any other city of equal size in America and none have a brighter future. No safer or surer investment can be found elsewhere. The Northern Pacific are now erecting a magnificent hotel and depot, and other improvements are being proceeded with. The Hudson Bay Railway and Air Line to Duluth assured, a Great movement in Real Estate is confidently expected. Our books contain large lists of very desirable property, both business and residential. We have acres for the sub-divider, blocks for the speculator, rental-bearing properties for the investor and homes for the people. Send for descriptive list whether for the purpose of investment or to procure a home.

MAGNIFICENT MANITOBA. The prairie Province of Canada. The land of Golden Grain, Improved Farms and Wild Lands in the fertile river valleys or on the table lands beyond, where the crop on every acre will pay for the land the first year. Great lines of railway projected throughout the Province this year.

We possess every facility for the negotiation of loans on mortgage: and capitalists and others desirous of investing funds will find it to their advantage to correspond with us. We carry on a general real estate business, buying, selling and exchanging real estate, collecting rents and taking full charge of property for non-residents. We also deal in mining stocks, and have for sale some valuable mineral locations, also timber limits. Over nine years experience in the real estate business in this city.

North West Territories, formerly Hudson's Bay Territory, comprise the whole of the vast region lying north-west of the Provinces of Ontario and Manitoba, and stretching from Alaska and the Rocky Mountains on the west to Hudson Bay on the east, and from the Arctic Ocean in the north to the United States in the south. This immense tract is bounded south by the 49th parallel of north latitude, which divides it from the United States ; west by the Rocky Mountains which separate it from British Columbia ; north-west by the territory of Alaska (belonging to U S) ; and north by the Arctic Ocean. Four provisional districts have been formed out of this territory, viz.: Assiniboia. Saskatchewan, Alberta and Athabasca. Computed area (inclusive of the provisional districts, and of the islands in the Arctic Ocean and Hudson Bay) 2,553,337 square miles. Population (1881), 56,446. The country in general is one vast rolling prairie, containing large tracts of fertile land suitable for agricultural and grazing purposes. The northern portions are thickly wooded, and the soil is a rich, black vegetable mould, varying in depth from 18 inches to many feet. It contains rich mineral deposits, coal, iron and gold having been found, the former in abundance. Everywhere it is watered by numerous lakes and rivers. Among its lakes are the Great Bear, Great Slave, Athabasca, Winnipeg, Rein Deer, Clinton, Golden, Wollaston, Doobaunt, North Lined, Baker, Big or Indian, Nelson, etc., Lakes. The rivers include the Mackenzie (2,500 m. long and draining an area of 443,000 sq. miles), the Coppermine, and the Great Fish rivers, all of which flow to the Arctic Ocean ; the Assiniboine, Saskatchawan (1,500 m. long), and the Red rivers, falling into Lake Winnipeg ; the Nelson and Churchill rivers discharging into Hudson Bay, besides numerous other smaller streams. Many of these rivers are navigable, and will afford excellent waterways for transporting the productions of the interior to suitable ports of shipment. Assiniboia and Alberta are traversed by the CPR, and railways have been projected throughout other parts of the territory. The population is sparse, but is rapidly increasing. Herds of buffaloes and elks are found roaming over the plains ; and since the Hudson Bay Company was chartered by King Charles II. in 1670, this region has been used as hunting grounds from which to obtain furs to supply the various markets of the world. The islands of the Arctic Ocean are visited by large numbers of whales, seals, walruses, etc. The territory was acquired by the Dominion Government in 1870 for £300,000, and its affairs are now administered by a Lieutenant-Governor and a Council of 20, partly elective, and partly appointed by the Privy Council of the Dominion. Electoral districts, returning each one member, are formed so soon as a district of 1,000 square miles contains a population of 1,000.

Alberta, provisional district North-West Territories, separated from British Columbia by the Rocky Mountains, and having Montana Territory (U.S.) on the south. Area, about 100,000 square miles. Population, 15,533. The district is pre-eminently the dairy region of America, and is a great ranch country.

The scenery is beautiful, and being under the Rocky Mountains, the district is irrigated by copious streams of pure water, in which trout abound. Coal exists in considerable quantities. The chief town is Calgary, situated at the confluence of the Bow and Elbow rivers.

ASSINIBOIA, a provisional district of the North-West Territories, bounded south by Montana and Dakota (U. S.), west by Alberta, east by Manitoba, and north by Saskatchewan. Area, about 95,000 square miles. Population, 22,083. The valley of the Qu'Appelle river is in this district. Many towns have sprung up along the line of the CPR, the chief of which are Broadview, Indian Head, Qu'Appelle, Regina (the capital), Moose Jaw, Swift Current, and Medicine Hat. The district is an agricultural one, and contains the Benbecula colony, settled by crofters, and the experimental "Bell Farm."

ATHABASCA, a provisional district of the North-West Territories, lies between latitude 55° and 60° north, and between longitude 111° and 120° west, area about 122,000 square miles. The present population is not large, and consists chiefly of Indians.

SASKATCHEWAN, provisional district of North-West Territories, bounded west by Alberta; east by Manitoba and Keewatin; south by Assiniboia; and north by the eighthteenth Correction line of the Dominion Lands System of Survey (about 55° north latitude). Area, 114,000 square miles. Population, 10,746. It is traversed by both branches of the Saskatchewan river, and it contains the settlements of Prince Albert, Batteford, etc.

MARITIME COURT OF ONTARIO.—Constituted by Dominion Statute, 40 Vic., cap. 21, as a Superior Court of Maritime Jurisdiction, is composed of one Judge for the whole Province and Surrogate Judges for certain localities appointed by the Governor in Council, are invested with such powers as may be conferred on them by their commission. The Maritime Court is a Superior Court of Record, having, with some exceptions mentioned in the Act, the like rights and remedies in all matters, including cases of Contract and Tort, and proceedings in rem. and in personam, arising out of or connected with navigation, shipping, trade or commerce, on any river, lake, canal, or island water, of which the whole or part is in the Province of Ontario, as any existing Vice-Admiralty Court would have if its process extended to the Province of Ontario. The Sittings of the Court and in Chambers are fixed and regulated by the Judge and Surrogate Judges at such times as they shall think fit and necessary for the due administration of justice. Judge for the whole Province—Hon. John Boyd. Registrar—John Bruce. Marshal—William Boyd.

HEIR AND DEVISEE COURT.—Commissioners, the Judges of the Supreme Court for Ontario, and such other persons as may be appointed by commission under the Great Seal. Their duties are to determine claims to lands in Ontario, for which no patent has issued from the Crown in favor of the proper claimants, whether as heirs, devisees, or assignees. Sittings at Toronto, first Monday in January and July in each year.

COURTS FOR THE TRIAL OF CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS.—The nature of these courts is sufficiently indicated in their title. In respect to elections for the House of Commons of Canada, the Superior Courts, by one of their Judges appointed in that behalf, are invested with special jurisdiction for the trial of contested elections, and appeals lie to the Supreme Court at Ottawa. In respect to elections for the Local Legislature of Ontario, the Judges of the Supreme Court of Ontario, meet annually in Michaelmas Term and severally select, by a majority of votes, a Judge of their respective Courts to be placed on the rota for the trial of election petitions. In the case of death or the illness of a Judge so chosen, the Court, of which he is a member, meet and elect another Judge. Trials involving corrupt practices are presided over by two Judges, otherwise a single Judge presides, and an appeal lies to the Court of Appeal of the Province.

COUNTY COURTS.—Presided over by a resident Judge in each county, assisted in some counties by a Deputy or Junior Judge. Their jurisdiction extends to all personal actions where the debt or damages claimed do not exceed $200; and to all suits relating to debt, covenant or contract, where the amount is ascertained by the acts of the parties or signature of the defendant, to $100; and to all bail bonds and recognizances of bail given in the County Court, to any amount; but not to cases involving the title to lands, validity of wills, or actions for libel, slander, crim. con., or seduction. An appeal lies to the Court of Appeal of Ontario.

COUNTY COURT SITTINGS AND COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.—The County Judge in each county holds a sitting of his Court and a Court of General Sessions in his county semi-annually on the second Tuesday in June and December, except in the county of York, in which county said Court is held four times, commencing on the first Tuesday in December and March, and the second Tuesday in May and September, the latter Courts for the trial of cases of felony and misdemeanor, but treason and capital felonies are exempted from their jurisdiction. The Judge may also, in his discretion, hold additional sittings at such times as may be deemed expedient to expedite business, but only for the trial of issues of fact without a jury.

DESCRIPTIVE OF ONTARIO.

Ontario, (formerly Upper Canada or Canada West), the most populous and wealthy Province of the Dominion, is bounded on the S.E., W. and S.W. by the St Lawrence river, and the great lakes, Ontario, Huron, Erie and Superior; on the S.W. by Minnesota (U.S.): on the E. by the River Ottawa, which separates it from Quebec Province; on the N. by the Albany River and James' Bay; and on the W. by Manitoba. Area, within the census limits, 101,733 sq. m. Area of its frontier waters, 27,094 sq. m. Pop. (1881) 1,923,228; June 1886 (estimated), 2,096,063. Capital, Toronto. The other leading towns are Ottawa, the administrative capital of the Dominion, Kingston, Hamilton and London. The surface is gently undulating, but is nowhere of a strictly mountainous character, and is agreeably diversified by lakes and rivers. A main watershed divides the waters of the St. Lawrence from those of the Ottawa, and a smaller one separates the rivers draining to Lake Simcoe and Huron and the Georgian Bay from those flowing into Lakes Erie and Ontario. The soil varies in different localities, but by far the greater portion of it is extremely fertile, and is capable of raising immense crops of wheat and other cereals. A large portion of the land is under crops and pasture, and a considerable area is devoted to orchards and gardens, fruit growing being largely engaged in. Apples form one of the staple articles of export, and the quantity exported in the green state during 1886 amounted to £40,000 in value. The total area in 1886 under crops was 7,403,281 acres; pasture, 3,026,321 acres ; orchards and gardens, 186,616 acres. Dairy farming is largely carried on, and in 1886 there were 770 cheese factories and 47 creameries in operation. In addition to having the middle course of the St. Lawrence on the E., and the Ottawa with its tributaries on the N. E., the Province contains numerous smaller streams, the principal of which are the Niagara, falling into Lake Ontario ; the Trent and Moira, falling into the Bay of Quinte ; the Grand, flowing S.E. to Lake Erie ; the French, Magnetawan, Severn, and Nottawasaga, discharging into the Georgian Bay ; the Thames, running S.W. to Lake St. Clair ; and the Saugeen, Maitland and Aux Sables debouching in Lake Huron. Besides the great lakes whose waters wash its S., S.E., and W. shores, the Province contains the smaller lakes of Simcoe, Nipigon, Nipissing, etc. Ontario is intersected by several canals, and the inland navigation is very extensive and complete. There are large tracts of wooded lands in the N., and the trade in timber is of great value, but the forests are gradually yielding before the advance of agriculture and dairy farming ; the trees grown include pine, oak, elm, black walnut, sugar maple, etc. The climate is extremely salubrious, and is agreeably tempered by the proximity of great lakes. It is hotter in summer and colder in winter than in Britain, but the air is always dry and bracing. The mean annual temperature at Toronto, during 1882, was 45·4°, the mean temperature during January, the coldest month, was 23·1°, as against 67·3° during August, the hottest month ; the mean barometrical reading. Ontario possesses mineral wealth of great variety and richness. Among minerals to be met with are Magnetic Iron Ore, Red Hematite, rich Copper Ore, Galena, Silver, Gold, Iron Pyrites, Phosphate of Lime, Gypsum, Marl, Ochre, Plumbago, Mica, Steatite Brick-clays, Magnesian Limestone, Sandstone, etc. Ontario possesses an admirable system of education which is free to the children of rich and poor alike, and wholly unsectarian in character. Catholics may establish separate schools and in such cases will be exempted from supporting public schools, and receive a separate grant from Government. The administration of the Province (constituted in 1867), is vested in a Lieut. Governor and Executive Council of six members and a Legislative Assembly of ninety members.
